remaining quarter offers another prospect altogether. Here is scope for the exercise of choice, and for the satisfaction of differing

Hong Kong and Macao have much in common

The dominant populations in both territories are Cantonese speaking Chinese both are small in area both are urban societies both have been colonies of European powers and both have undergone political transition to reunification with China

Yet in education for reasons that are analysed in this book they are very different

The patterns of similarities and differences in the two territories make a fascinating basis for comparative study

The overarching theme of the book on continuity and change is particularly pertinent following the transition of the two societies of the postcolonial era

This thoroughly revised and expanded second edition builds on the widely acclaimed first edition

The work has been recognised as a significant contribution to the broad field of comparative education as well as to study of the specific societies which are its main focus
