History of the Reformation in the Sixteenth Century and in the Time of Calvin (Complete) Jean Henri Merle d'Aubigne, 1849-01-01 Facts alone do not constitute the whole of history any more than the members of the body form the complete man There is a soul in history as well as in the body and it is this which generates vivifies and links the facts together so that they all combine to the same end The instant we begin to treat of Geneva which through the ministry of Calvin was to become the most powerful centre of Reform in the sixteenth century one question starts up before us What was the soul of the Reformation of Geneva Truly salvation by faith in Christ who died to save truly the renewal of the heart by the word and the Spirit of God But side by side with these supreme elements that are found in all the Reformations we meet with secondary elements that have existed in one country and not in another What we discover at Geneva may possibly deserve to fix the attention of men in our own days the characteristic element of the Genevese Reform is liberty Three great movements were carried out in this city during the first half of the sixteenth century The first was the conquest of independence the second the conquest of faith the third the renovation and organisation of the Church Berthelier Farel and Calvin are the three heroes of these three epics Each of these different movements was necessary The bishop of Geneva was a temporal prince like the bishop of Rome it was difficult to deprive the bishop of his pastoral staff unless he were first deprived of his sword The necessity of liberty for the Gospel and of the Gospel for liberty is now acknowledged by all thoughtful men but it was proclaimed by the history of Geneva three centuries ago But it may be said a history of the Reformation has no concern with the secular political and social element I have been reproached with not putting this sufficiently forward in the history of the Reformation of Germany where it had relatively but little importance I may perhaps be reproached with dwelling on it too much in the Reformation of Geneva where it holds a prominent place It is a hard matter to please all tastes the safest course is to be guided by the truth of principles and not by the exigencies of individuals Is it my fault if an epoch possesses its characteristic features if it is impossible to keep back the secular without wronging the spiritual element To cut history in two is to distort it In the Reform of Geneva and especially in the constitution of its church the element of liberty predominates more than in the Reforms of other countries We cannot know the reason of this unless we study the movement which gave birth to that Reform The history of the political emancipation of Geneva is interesting of itself liberty it has been said has never been common in the world it has not flourished in all countries or in all climates and the periods when a people struggles justly for liberty are the privileged epochs of history One such epoch occurred at the commencement of modern times but strange to say it is almost in Geneva alone that the struggles for liberty make the earlier decades of the sixteenth century a privileged time It is in this small republic that we find men remarkable for their devotion to liberty for their attachment to law for the boldness of their thoughts the firmness of their character and the strength of their energy In the sixteenth century after a repose of some hundreds of years humanity having recovered its powers like a field that had long lain fallow displayed almost everywhere the marvels of the most luxuriant vegetation Geneva is indeed the smallest theatre of this extraordinary fermentation but it was not the least in heroism and grandeur and on that ground alone it deserves attention

A Bankrupt Heart (Complete) Florence Marryat[], Miss Llewellyn was standing at the window of her own room in the house of Lord Ilfracombe in Grosvenor Square gazing at the dust laden and burnt up leaves and grass in the gardens before her It was an afternoon towards the close of July and all the fashionable world was already out of town Miss Llewellyn had been reared in the country and she could not help thinking how that same sun that had burnt up all the verdure of which London could boast had glorified the vegetation of far off Wales How it must have enriched the pasture lands and ripened the waving corn and decked the very hedges and ditches with beautiful fresh flowers which were to be had for the gathering Her thoughts went back to rural Usk where King Arthur built a bower for Guinevere and in fancy she felt the cool air blowing over its fragrant fields and woods She heaved a deep sigh as she remembered the place of her birth and as if in reproach for such heresy to her present condition she drew a letter from her pocket and opened its pages Miss Llewellyn nominally held an inferior position in the house of the Earl of Ilfracombe She was his housekeeper Old fashioned people who associate their ideas of a housekeeper with the image of a staid middle aged woman whose sole business is to guard the morals and regulate the duties of the maidens of the establishment would have stared at the notion of calling Miss Llewellyn by that name All the same she was a very fair specimen of the up to date housekeeper of a rich bachelor of the present time with one exception perhaps She was handsome beyond the majority of women Her figure was a model Tall and graceful without being thin with a beautiful bust and shoulders and a skin like white satin Miss Llewellyn also possessed a face such as is seldom met with even in these isles of boasted female beauty Her features would have suited a princess They were those of a carved Juno Her abundant rippling hair was of a bright chestnut colour her eyes dark hazel like the tawny eyes of the leopardess her lips full and red and her complexion naturally as radiant as it usually is with women of her nationality though London air had toned it down to a pale cream tint She was quietly but well dressed too well dressed for one in her station of life perhaps but that would depend on the wages she earned and the appearance she was expected to make Her gown of some light black material like mousseline de laine or canvas cloth was much trimmed with lace and on her wrists she wore heavy gold bangles Her beautiful hair was worn in the prevailing fashion and round her white throat was a velvet band clasped by a diamond brooch The room too which Miss Llewellyn occupied and which was exclusively her own was far beyond what we should associate with the idea of a dependant It was a species of half study half boudoir and on the drawing room floor furnished by Liberty and replete with every comfort and luxury Yet Miss Llewellyn did not look out of place in it on the contrary she would have graced a far handsomer apartment by her presence To whatever station of life she had been brought up it was evident that circumstances or habit had made her quite familiar with her surroundings As she perused the letter she drew from her pocket for perhaps the twentieth time she looked rather pale and anxious as though she did not quite comprehend its meaning Yet it seemed a very ordinary epistle and one which anybody might have read over her shoulder with impunity It was written in rather an irregular and unformed hand for a man of thirty and showed symptoms of a wavering and unsteadfast character Spirit of the English Magazines ,1820 The English Catalogue of Books ...

Emotional Practice in Old English Literature Alice Jorgensen,2024 An examination of how emotions were practised and performed through Old English texts Scholarship is increasingly interested in investigating concepts of emotion found in Old English literature This study takes the next step arguing that both heroic and religious texts were vehicles for emotional practice that is for doing things with emotion Using case studies from heroic poetry Beowulf The Battle of Brunanburh and The Battle of Maldon religious poetry Christ I and Christ III and homilies selections from the Vercelli Book Blickling Homilies and the works of Wulfstan it shows via detailed close readings that texts could be used to act out emotional styles manage the emotions arising from specific events and negotiate relationships both within social groups and with God Meanwhile a chapter on the Old English Boethius explores how the control of unruly emotions is theorized as the transfer of attachment from the things of this world to the things of the divine Overall the volume offers new angles on the social functions of genres and questions of reception and performance and it gives insight into how early medieval people used emotions to relate to their world temporal and eternal
