

Dimensions of Supervision for Instructors

You know the supervisor competencies which guide supervisory tasks and responsibilities.

Those tasks and responsibilities can be organized into four dimensions of supervision: Administrative, Supportive, Educational, and Clinical. Notice that the four categories are separate and overlap. All share the same goal of offering children and families the most effective and efficient services by enabling workers and the agency.

Throughout the Foundations of Supervision series instructors are asked to facilitate and make connections between the dimensions of supervision and content, paying special attention to how focusing on one dimension at the expense of others is problematic.

not an easy one and it is not necessarily black and white. In fact it could be argued that it is often easier to describe what is not professional versus what is professional. It could also be disputed that although professionalism can be recognized when you see it you may not necessarily be able to put your finger on what it is exactly. Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice by Dr Elizabeth D DeJuliis provides an overview of the wide ranging knowledge skills and attitudes that encompass professionalism across the occupational therapy profession. While there is no formal endorsed definition of professionalism in occupational therapy practice suggestions are provided to serve as a blueprint for use. Professionalism in occupational therapy practice is a dynamic sophistication exemplified by a combination of an individual's personal skill set knowledge behaviors and attitudes and the adoption of the moral and ethical values of the profession and society. Dr DeJuliis illustrates the concept of professionalism as a unique combination of intrinsic and extrinsic qualities surrounding key constructs of ethics responsibility competency and behavior. Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice discusses these various expectations in the academic setting the clinic workplace and in general society. Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice utilizes a developmental approach to teaching and learning paralleling the Revised Bloom's Taxonomy 2001. This classification system provides a graded holistic methodology to human teaching and learning. The concept of professionalism will be exemplified by using both a knowledge based approach to subject matter requiring higher level learning such as metacognition which is a crucial component of professionalism. The chapter objectives and learning activities will challenge the reader to recall comprehend apply analysis synthesize evaluate and create knowledge directly to their context. Instructors in educational settings can visit www.efacultylounge.com for additional materials such as informative appendices and resources include sample statements for syllabi policy manuals resume and CV templates interview guidelines professional development plans and more to be used for teaching in the classroom. Occupational Therapy practitioners at all levels including fieldwork educators leaders managers and researchers will also benefit. Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice as it provides a synopsis of professional expectations beyond the classroom and fieldwork setting. Due to recent changes in healthcare educational standards and societal influence the expectation of professionalism has been under greater scrutiny across health and social care professions. Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice is the ideal text to provide a blueprint for occupational therapy students faculty and practitioners to fulfill our profession's potential and achieve the American Occupational Therapy Association's Vision 2025.
