To Be an Entrepreneur Julia Qermezi

Huang, 2020-05-15 In To Be an Entrepreneur Julia Qermezi Huang focuses on Bangladesh's iAgent social enterprise model the set of economic processes that animate the delivery of this model and the implications for women's empowerment The book offers new ethnographic approaches that reincorporate relational economics into the study of social enterprise It details the tactics dilemmas compromises aspirations and unexpected possibilities that digital social enterprise opens up for women entrepreneurs and reveals the implications of policy models promoting women's empowerment the failure of focusing on individual autonomy and independence While describing the historical and incomplete transition of Bangladesh's development models from their roots in a patronage based moral economy to a market based social enterprise arrangement Huang concludes that market driven interventions fail to grasp the sociopolitical and cultural contexts in which poverty and gender inequality are embedded and sustained Myth and materiality in a woman's world Lynn Abrams, 2013-07-19

Shetland has a history unique in Europe for over the past two centuries it was a place where women dominated the family economy and the cultural imagination Women ran households and crofts without men They maintained families and communities because men were absent And they constructed in their minds an identity of themselves as liberated long before organised feminism was invented And yet Shetland is a place which was made by the most masculine of societies those of the Picts Scots and above all the Vikings and its contemporary identity still draws on the heroic exploits and sagas of medieval Norsemen This book examines how against this tradition Shetland became a female place and offers answers as to how in this most isolated island community the inhabitants transgressed and reversed their traditional gender roles Reconstructing this woman's world from fragments of cultural experience captured in written and oral sources this book will appeal to scholars in the fields of social and cultural history social anthropology gender and women's studies A Woman of women's and gender studies to analyse and recount campaigns, cases and debates. Industrial bodies federally and around Australia have grappled with this issue from the early twentieth century onwards. This book traces the struggle through the decades looking at women's organisations, activism and demands, union pro and against activity and the official approach in tribunals, boards and courts. Munsey's Magazine, 1927 Woman's Missionary Friend, 1899 Same or Different Kay M. Fraser, 2019-05-23. First published in 1999, this volume responds to the 1968 sewing worker strikes at the Ford Motor Company, asking how the worker demands made by women are to be heard and understood in workplace negotiations. At the time of original writing in the late 1990s, there remained many women workers whose needs and concerns remained hidden behind a workplace agenda dominated by male interests. Kay M. Fraser utilises some of the insights offered by post-structuralist feminist theorists to interrogate the competing debates about women workers as they were discursively constructed by the organisations, institutions and individuals interested and involved in the employment of women during the 1960s. Fraser further explores notions of sameness and difference, how these were used to formulate a view of women workers, and highlights the need for women to be seen, particularly by those involved in the workplace negotiations of the future, as both the same as and different from men workers.
