ABSTRACT

The main objective of this paper is to provide background information for understanding of Ad-hoc on demand distance vector (AODV) protocol. This paper provides a critical review of literature on mobile ad-hoc networks and the routing protocols. This paper will discuss the concept and characteristics of mobile ad-hoc networks. The features and classification of the ad-hoc routing protocols & explains the description of Ad-hoc on demand distance vector (AODV) protocol with its mechanisms. This paper also discusses the link failure in mobile ad-hoc networks and the link state prediction is illustrated.

1. INTRODUCTION

Mobile Ad-Hoc Networks A mobile ad-hoc network is considered as a special type of wireless networks which contains a collection of wireless devices such as tablets, iPad, and laptops. These devices organize a temporary network without depending on fixed infrastructures. Basically, mobile ad-hoc networks are peer to peer multihop mobile wireless networks according to which each packet information is sent from the source to the destination node through an intermediate node as demonstrated in Figure 1.

The communication of mobile nodes with each other is performed through the wireless medium. Mobile ad-hoc networks may operate independent or with few selected routers to communicate with an infrastructure network such as the Internet as mentioned in [1]. The topology of mobile ad-hoc network is dynamic because the mobile nodes can leave or join the network at anytime and anywhere. According to Das et al. [2] one of the major advantages of mobile ad-hoc networks is the attractive choice for military field. However, the freedom and flexibility of mobile ad-hoc networks emerge with some complication and challenges. The lack of pre-existing infrastructure, frequently changing topology, multi-hop nature, bandwidth constraints, energy consumption, and network scalability, add the challenges and complexities to the traditional of wireless networks.

Mobility and Network Topology

Node mobility is the main factor that affect the performance of MANET as stated in Tongue [3] and Lenders [4]. The fast unpredictable movement of the intermediate nodes in MANET environment dynamically change the network topology. This in turn causes a break in the discovered communication links. When the links are disrupted, the result is dropping of large amount of the data packets that were sent to the next hop during the forwarding process. As a result, the network forces the underlying protocol to recover the failed links or starts discovering new routes to continue transmission the data packets. However, the increase of many activities in mobile ad-hoc networks, causes a frequent exchange of routing information over the bandwidth constrained communication channel. According to Bandana [5], this leads to increase in overall routing overhead of the network.

Figure 2 illustrates the dynamic changes of topology under node movement and multi-hop nature of mobile ad-hoc networks. Figures 2 (a) and 2 (b) represent the network topology at time t and $t+1$ respectively where the mobile node (6) presents the source and mobile node (1) presents the destination.
