Basics of CNC Programming Pawan Negi, Mangey Ram, Om Prakash Yadav, 2022-09-01 Before the introduction of automatic machines and automation industrial manufacturing of machines and their parts for the key industries were made though manually operated machines Due to this manufacturers could not make complex profiles or shapes with high accuracy As a result the production rate tended to be slow production costs were very high rejection rates were high and manufacturers often could not complete tasks on time Industry was boosted by the introduction of the semi automatic manufacturing machine known as the NC machine which was introduced in the 1950 s at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the USA After these NC machine started to be used typical profiles and complex shapes could get produced more readily which in turn lead to an improved production rate with higher accuracy Thereafter in the 1970 s an even larger revolutionary change was introduced to manufacturing namely the use of the CNC machine Computer Numerical Control Since then CNC has become the dominant production method in most manufacturing industries including automotive aviation defence oil and gas medical electronics industry and the optical industry Basics of CNC Programming describes how to design CNC programs and what cutting parameters are required to make a good manufacturing program The authors explain about cutting parameters in CNC machines such as cutting feed depth of cut rpm cutting speed etc and they also explain the G codes and M codes which are common to CNC The skill set of CNC program writing is covered as well as how to cut material during different operations like straight turning step turning taper turning drilling chamfering radius profile profile turning etc In so doing the authors cover the level of CNC programming from basic to industrial format Drawings and CNC programs to practice on are also included for the reader CNC Control Setup for Milling and Turning Peter

Linear & Circular interpolations for a workpiece* Roland Nathan Kalonji,2018-03-20 Research Paper postgraduate from the year 2017 in the subject Engineering Mechanical Engineering University of the Witwatersrand language English abstract A combined 3D linear and circular interpolation principle is developed on the basis of the 3D linear and circular interpolation principles The task was to choose and design a creative item to be machined using CNC machining which then required to write a code using CNC language Prior to the machining process we did a Computer Aided Design CAD drawing of the workpiece The drawing was further modified with the final model drawn using Auto Desk Inventor We used foam for our model and a 31 diameter end mill tool The main problem that was experienced was the cutting time the model took longer to be complete The cutting time was affected by the complexity of the design chosen tool size and the cutting technique Besides we learnt from the demonstration that the shorter the constructed code the more robust it is using a bigger tool is more efficient in terms of saving energy and time and that if the code is correct the CNC machine model becomes identical to that of the product Design Resources in Education ,1999
