Apocalypse as Holy War Emma Wasserman, 2018-07-31 Prevailing theories of apocalypticism assert that in a world that rebels against God a cataclysmic battle between good and evil is needed to reassert God's dominion Emma Wasserman a rising scholar of early Christian history challenges this interpretation and reframes Paul's apocalyptic texts as myths about politics in the world of divinity Wasserman argues that the most dominant historical critical theories about Christian apocalypticism are ahistorical and tend to work with apologetic formulations of Christ's victory and the uniqueness of Christianity Assessing Paul's claims about immanent war divine enemies and the transformation that will accompany Christ's return Wasserman sees him as envisioning a single righteously ruled cosmic kingdom the true nature of which will soon be revealed to all A major scholarly contribution that ranges across Mediterranean and West Asian religious thought this volume has broad implications for understanding Paul's myth of heroic submission as well as his most distinctive ethical teachings

Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations, 1960 Acta Physica Polonica , 2002 The Formal Education of the Author of Luke-Acts Steve Reece, 2022-06-16 Steve Reece proposes that the author of Luke Acts was trained as a youth in the primary and secondary Greek educational curriculum typical of the Eastern Mediterranean during the Roman Imperial period where he gained familiarity with the Classical and Hellenistic authors whose works were the focus of study He makes a case for Luke s knowledge of these authors internally by spotlighting the density of allusions to them in the narrative of Luke Acts and externally by illustrating from contemporary literary papyrological and artistic evidence that the works of these authors were indeed widely known in the Eastern Mediterranean at the time of the composition of Luke Acts not only in the schools but also among the general public Reece begins with a thorough examination of the Greek educational system during the Hellenistic and Roman Imperial periods emphasizing that the educational curriculum was very homogeneous at least at the primary and secondary levels and that children growing up anywhere in the Eastern Mediterranean could expect to receive quite similar educations His close examination of the Greek text of Luke Acts has turned up echoes allusions and quotations of several of the very authors that were most prominently featured in the school curriculum Homer Aesop Euripides Plato and Aratus This reinforces the view that Luke along with other writers of the New Testament lived in a cultural milieu that was influenced by Classical and Hellenistic Greek literature and that he was not averse to invoking that literature when it
