

CABLE MODEM/ROUTER WITH WIRELESS-N QUICK START

This Quick Start description is specific to the Cable Modem/Router with Wireless-N. A cable modem serves as an intermediary for computers when they need access to Internet capabilities. Some broadband services, including streaming information and applications, are best used from a Cable Modem/Router (CM).

Package Contents

- Cable Modem/Router
- Power cord
- Ethernet LAN cable
- CD with user manual

Before installing Your Cable Modem

The Cable Modem/Router needs to know your modem's MAC ADDRESS, which is a unique address on the system of government. This information identifies the cable modem service or your service provider. You can obtain this information by contacting the cable company (DSL/Fiber) or service provider. You may also be able to provide the modem's model name and number, which is CM1084. If you need the modem serial number, you can find it on the MAC address on the modem label.

System Requirements

- The modem connects the cable modem to a computer equipped with one of the cables (DSL/Fiber) provided in CD, LAN 1, 2, 3, or 4. If you need to get cable modem service, please speak with your cable service provider.
- To use the Quick Start you need a computer, an Ethernet cable, and a power cable.

If your cable service provider provided a cable modem starter kit, please contact your cable service provider to get the kit. Do not use the Cable Modem/Router with your own modem/router, as it may be damaged by a computer if you don't have or disconnect to a cable modem starter kit.

If your cable service provider provided a cable modem starter kit

Some cable service providers supply a cable modem starter kit that includes the Cable Modem/Router. The kit may include a power cable for connecting the Cable Modem/Router to a power source, an Ethernet cable, and a power cable. If you need to get cable modem service, please speak with your cable service provider. You may also be able to provide the modem's model name and number, which is CM1084. If you need the modem serial number, you can find it on the MAC address on the modem label.

We recommend you plug the modem's power cord directly into the power source using a power cable and then connect a computer using either the Ethernet LAN cable or the power before connecting the Cable Modem/Router to the Internet Connection.

Note: Please refer to the Hardware Connection section. Your modem will send a signal if the label on the cable modem is not damaged if the connection is successful.

After you have installed your cable modem with the recommended setup using cable service, your cable modem can connect your computer to the Internet.

Note: When LAN 1 is connected to power up the first time, you need to connect the Cable Modem/Router to a power source and connect to a computer using either the Ethernet LAN cable or the power before connecting the Cable Modem/Router to the Internet Connection. Your LED lights (DSL, LAN, and Internet) should light up, indicating that the Internet light status is ready to go online.

Now open your browser and go to the website that you use to find the cable modem's settings.

- If you want to connect the Cable Modem/Router wirelessly to your device, see Connecting the Cable Modem/Router Wirelessly to Your Device.

- If you want to connect additional computers/devices using the modem/router's Ethernet LAN ports, please see Read This Only if You Are Connecting Additional Computers and/or Other Devices to the Cable Modem/Router's Ethernet LAN ports.
- If you want to configure advanced options, please refer to the User Manual or the CD.

How to connect to a computer if you don't have or choose not to use a cable modem starter kit

1. Be sure your computer is on and the cable modem is unplugged. Note: Please refer to the Hardware Connection section. Your modem will send a signal if the label on the cable modem is not damaged if the connection is successful. If the connection is not successful, please refer to the following steps.
2. Disconnect one of the labeled cables in the cable modem's starter kit from the other end of the second cable in the Cable Modem/Router. For the purpose of the Cable Modem/Router, there are two connections: power and Internet connection.
 - The power cord is a power cable between the power cable provided and your power source/router. After the power is connected, you can see a power LED indicator on the cable.
 - Internet: This is the cable that is connected directly to your computer's network card and provides an option for connecting to the cable modem.
3. Plug the power cord into the DC IN connector on the back panel of the cable modem and plug the Ethernet cable. The power cable modem will connect to the Internet LED light on.
4. The connection is successful that you connect the second Ethernet cable to the Internet port (LAN 1, 2, 3, or 4) on the back panel of the cable modem/router and connect the other end of the Ethernet cable to your computer. If you cannot connect your computer wirelessly to the Internet, see Connecting the Cable Modem/Router Wirelessly to Your Device.

Note: When LAN 1 is connected to power up the first time, you need to connect the Cable Modem/Router to a power source and connect to a computer using either the Ethernet LAN cable or the power before connecting the Cable Modem/Router to the Internet Connection. Your LED lights (DSL, LAN, and Internet) should light up, indicating that the Internet light status is ready to go online.

Now open your browser and go to the website that you use to find the cable modem's settings.

- If you want to connect the Cable Modem/Router wirelessly to your device, see Connecting the Cable Modem/Router Wirelessly to Your Device.
- If you want to connect additional computers/devices using the modem/router's Ethernet LAN ports, please see Read This Only if You Are Connecting Additional Computers and/or Other Devices to the Cable Modem/Router's Ethernet LAN ports.
- If you want to configure advanced options, please refer to the User Manual or the CD.

Power-on-the-Wireless

- Be sure the Cable Modem/Router is powered on.
- Be sure the Cable Modem/Router is connected to the Internet.
- Plug the power cable into the power source using the "DC IN" cable and plug it to your computer's network card. The Power LED indicator should light up, indicating on.
