International Handbook of Learning, Teaching and Leading in Faith-Based Schools Judith D. Chapman, Sue McNamara, Michael J. Reiss, Yusef Waghid, 2014-07-10

The International Handbook on Learning Teaching and Leading in Faith Based Schools is international in scope. It is addressed to policy makers, academics, education professionals and members of the wider community. The book is divided into three sections:

- 1 The Educational Historical Social and Cultural Context which aims to Identify the educational historical social and cultural bases and contexts for the development of learning teaching and leadership in faith based schools across a range of international settings. Consider the current trends, issues and controversies facing the provision and nature of education in faith based schools. Examine the challenges faced by faith based schools and their role and responses to current debates concerning science and religion in society and its institutions.
- 2 The Nature Aims and Values of Education in Faith based Schools which aims to Identify and explore the distinctive philosophies, characteristics and guiding principles, values, concepts and concerns underpinning learning teaching and leadership in faith based schools. Identify and explore ways in which such distinctive philosophies of education challenge and expand different norms and conventions in their surrounding societies and cultures. Examine and explore some of the ways in which different conceptions within and among different religious and faith traditions guide practices in learning teaching and leadership in various ways.
- 3 Current Practice and Future Possibilities which aims to Provide evidence of current educational practices that might help to inform and shape innovative and successful policies, initiatives and strategies for the development of quality learning teaching and leadership in faith based schools. Examine the ways in which the professional learning of teachers and educational leaders in faith based settings might be articulated and developed. Consider the ways in which coherence and alignment might be achieved between key national priorities in education and the identity, beliefs and the commitments of faith based schools. Examine what international experience shows about the place of faith based schools in culturally rich and diverse communities and the implications of faith based schooling for societies of the future.

Understanding Pedagogy Michael Waring, Carol Evans, 2014-10-30

What is meant by pedagogy? How does our conception of pedagogy inform good teaching and learning? Pedagogy is a complex concept of which student and practising teachers need to have an understanding yet there remain many ambiguities about what the term means and how it informs learning in the classroom. Understanding Pedagogy examines pedagogy in a holistic way supporting a more critical and reflective understanding of teaching and learning. It considers pedagogy as a concept that covers not just teaching approaches and pupil teacher relationships but one which also embraces and informs educational theory personal learning styles assessment and relationships inside and outside the classroom A detailed consideration of what it means to be a professional in the contemporary climate Understanding Pedagogy challenges student and practising teachers to reappraise their understanding and practice through effectively linking theory and practice Key issues explored include the importance of understanding a learning styles profile the application of cognitive neuroscience to teaching personalised learning assessment and feedback and what we mean by critical reflection Using the Personal Learning Styles Pedagogy the authors make explicit the integration of theory and practice and the many decisions and selections that teachers make their implications for what is being taught and learnt how learners are positioned in the pedagogical process and ultimately how learning can be improved Understanding Pedagogy will be essential reading for student and practising teachers as well those on Education Studies courses and undertaking masters level courses involved in the endeavour of understanding what constitutes effective teaching and learning

Preparing Teachers for a Changing World Linda Darling-Hammond, John Bransford, 2007-08-17 Based on rapid advances in what is known about how people learn and how to teach effectively this important book examines the core concepts and central pedagogies that should be at the heart of any teacher education program Stemming from the results of a commission sponsored by the National Academy of Education Preparing Teachers for a Changing World recommends the creation of an informed teacher education curriculum with the common elements that represent state of the art standards for the profession Written for teacher educators in both traditional and alternative programs university and school system leaders teachers staff development professionals researchers and educational policymakers the book addresses the key foundational knowledge for teaching and discusses how to implement that knowledge within the classroom Preparing Teachers for a Changing World recommends that in addition to strong subject matter knowledge all new teachers have a basic understanding of how people learn and develop as well as how children acquire and use language which is the currency of education In addition the book suggests that teaching professionals must be able to apply that knowledge in developing curriculum that attends to students needs the demands of the content and the social purposes of education in teaching specific subject matter to diverse students in managing the classroom assessing student performance and using technology in the classroom
