Body membranes, which cover body surfaces, line its cavities, and form protective sheets around organs, fall into two major categories. These are epithelial membranes (skin, epidermis, mucosae, and serosae) and the connective tissue synovial membranes.

Topics for review in this chapter include a comparison of structure and function of various membranes, anatomical characteristics of the skin (composed of the connective tissue dermis and the epidermis) and its derivatives, and the manner in which the skin responds to both internal and external stimuli to protect the body.

CLASSIFICATION OF BODY MEMBRANES

1. Complete the following table relating to body membranes. Enter your responses in the areas left blank.

Membrane	Tissue type (epithelial/connective)	Common locations	Functions
Mucosae	Epithelial sheet with underlying connective tissue (lamina propria)	Respiratory, urinary, Digestive, Reproductive	Lubrication, Protection, Secretion, and Absorption
Serosae	Simple squamous epithelial tissue	Lines internal ventral body cavities and covers their organs	Produce lubricating fluid to reduce friction.
Cutaneous	Epidermis and Dermis	Body exterior	Protection from external insults and water loss.
Synovial	All connective tissue	Lines cavities of external joints	Produce lubrication and decrease friction.
