Pursuing an Elusive Unity Rhodian Munyenembe, 2019-09-30 Since its founding in 1924 the Church of Central Africa Presbyterian CCAP has grown to span five synods across Central Eastern and Southern Africa Dr Rhodian Munyenembe traces the history of these synods back to their shared roots in the Reformation and individual roots in three separate Presbyterian missions Dr Munyenembe skillfully explores both historic and contemporary challenges to the unity of the CCAP and raises the question of whether the CCAP truly functions as a single denomination or could better be understood as a loose federation of five distinct churches His in depth explanation provides a critical look that goes beyond a surface understanding of what it means to unite churches from different cultural traditions and brings honest answers to disputes and conflicts among the CCAP synods Through this analysis and exploration Dr Munyenembe also sheds light on the political and socio economic aspects of life in relation to the influence of religious denominations In this objective yet astute account Munyenembe gives voice to the CCAP s complex history present reality and future potential

Wesley and the Education of Children Linda A. Ryan, 2017-11-06 Scholars have historically associated John Wesley's educational endeavours with the boarding school he established at Kingswood near Bristol in 1746 However his educational endeavours extended well beyond that single institution even to non Methodist educational programmes This book sets out Wesley's thinking and practice concerning child rearing and education particularly in relation to gender and class in its broader eighteenth century social and cultural context Drawing on writings from Churchmen Dissenters economists philosophers and reformers as well as educationalists this study demonstrates that the political religious and ideological backdrop to Wesley's work was neither static nor consistent It also highlights Wesley's eighteenth century fellow Evangelicals including Lady Huntingdon John Fletcher Hannah More and Robert Raikes to demonstrate whether Wesley's thinking and practice around schooling was in any way unique This study sheds light on how Wesley's attitudes to education were influencing and influenced by the society in which he lived and worked As such it will be of great interest to academics with an interest in Methodism education and eighteenth century attitudes towards gender and class A Day-by-Day

In Don t Send Him in Tomorrow Jarlath O'Brien shines a light on the marginalised disenfranchised and forgotten children of today s schools The percentage of children achieving the government s expected standard in benchmark tests is national news every year The progress that children with learning difficulties and SEN make is never discussed because it is not understood That is a problem The bone crushing infrastructure which professionals have to negotiate is a problem The fact that so many parents have to fight tooth and nail so that the needs of their children are met something the rest of us would consider a basic entitlement is a problem This book describes how the system and can be improved if and when these marginalised children are given higher priority by the powers that be There is a widespread lack of understanding about special schools the work they do and the children they educate the sector is largely invisible Jarlath O'Brien has become increasingly frustrated by this and the varying quality of provision for children with learning difficulties and SEN in mainstream schools The successes of special schools and pupil referral units in Ofsted inspections are just not celebrated or analysed in the same way that mainstream schools are While mainstream schools have their hands tied by fears over progress measures There is a human cost to the accountability culture that reduces schooling to data and judgements this is felt most profoundly by children with SEN and their families Jarlath shares some of the problems he s witnessed with inclusion and exclusion mainstream schools actively encouraging children with SEN to look elsewhere parents reporting their children have been formally or informally excluded from school and socially excluded by the parents of other children children asked to leave their mainstream schools because of their behaviour usually behaviour that is caused by their needs not being adequately addressed children who are in school but isolated from their peers If a child can t participate in activities or trips with the rest of the class or spends much of the day working one to one with a teaching assistant is this really inclusion The Pupil Premium has been established to ensure that children in receipt of free school meals are not disadvantaged why does something similar not exist for children with SEN Every health and wealth indicator that you could use to measure people with learning difficulties and special educational needs SEN reveals something alarming They die younger They work less They are more likely to live in poverty or end up in prison or face mental health difficulties They are much more likely to be excluded from school They are more likely to be bullied at school This has to end We all have to choose to commit to recognising that society as it is today is a difficult place for young people to thrive When you have autism or Down syndrome or any physical or learning difference it s even harder and the system as it stands isn t helping We need to acknowledge that this is not right that such a state of affairs must change and that we all have a part to play in making that change happen Jarlath offers suggestions for politicians Ofsted local authorities head teachers SENCOs teachers and teaching assistants about what they can do to make a difference For all politicians head teachers SENCOs teachers and parents Focus On: 100 Most Popular English People of Welsh Descent Wikipedia contributors,
