Jonson Marlowe and Chapman weighed their reliance on classical poetic models against contemporary cultural exchanges a new form of poetry developed positioned at the crossroads of East and West ancient and modern Building each chapter around the intersection of an Eastern import and a classical model Jacobson shows how Renaissance English poetry not only reconstructed the classical past but offered a critique of that very enterprise with a new set of words and metaphors imported from the East

Tasting Difference Gitanjali G. Shahani, 2020-05-15 Tasting Difference examines early modern discourses of racial cultural and religious difference that emerged in the wake of contact with foreign peoples and foreign foods from across the globe Gitanjali Shahani reimagines the contact zone between Western Europe and the global South in culinary terms emphasizing the gut rather than the gaze in colonial encounters From household manuals that instructed English housewives how to use newly imported foodstuffs to the spic d Indian air of A Midsummer Night s Dream from the repurposing of Othello as an early modern pitchman for coffee in ballads to the performance of disgust in travel narratives Shahani shows how early modern genres negotiated the allure and danger of foreign tastes Turning maxims such as We are what we eat on their head Shahani asks how did we the colonized subjects become what you the colonizing subjects eat How did we become alternately the object of fear and appetite loathing and craving Shahani takes us back several centuries to the process by which food came to be inscribed with racial character and the racial other came to be marked as edible showing how the racializing of food began in an era well before chicken tikka masala and Balti cuisine Bringing into conversation critical paradigms in early modern studies food studies and postcolonial studies she argues that it is in the writing on food and eating that we see among the earliest configurations of racial difference and it is experienced both as a different taste and as a taste of difference
