Africa and the Expansion of International Society John Anthony Pella, Jr, 2014-08-21 This book explores the West Central African role in and experience during the expansion of international society Building upon theoretical contributions from the English School of international relations historical sociology and sociology it departs from Euro centric assumptions by analysing how West Central Africa and West Central Africans were integral to the ways in which Europe and Africa came together from the fifteenth century through to the twentieth Initially diverse scholarship concerned with the expansion of international society is examined revealing how the process has often been understood as one dictated by Europeans From there a new approach is developed one which is better able to examine the expansion as an interactive process between individuals and which puts the African experience at the heart of study The empirical research that follows this draws upon primary sources to introduce a number of historically significant and ground breaking cases into international relations including the international relations of West Central Africa before the European arrival the emergence and growth of the trans Atlantic slave trade the attempts to civilize Africa and the scramble to colonize Africa This book argues that the expansion of international society was driven by individual interaction and was shaped by both Africans and Europeans This book will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations international relations theory history African politics the English school and constructivism Author John Anthony Pella introduces his book Africa and the Expansion of International Society Surrendering the Savannah http://www.routledge.com/politics/articles/featured\_author\_john\_anthony\_pella

Lourenço da Silva Mendonça and the Black Atlantic Abolitionist Movement

in the Seventeenth Century José Lingna Nafafé, 2022-08-25 This groundbreaking study tells the story of the highly organised international legal court case for the abolition of slavery spearheaded by Prince Lourenço da Silva Mendonça in the seventeenth century. The case presented before the Vatican called for the freedom of all enslaved people and other oppressed groups. This included New Christians, Jews converted to Christianity and Indigenous Americans in the Atlantic World and Black Christians from confraternities in Angola, Brazil, Portugal and Spain. Abolition debate is generally believed to have been dominated by white Europeans in the eighteenth century. By centring African agency, Jos Lingna Nafaf offers a new perspective on the abolition movement showing for the first time how the legal debate was begun not by Europeans but by Africans. In the first book of its kind, Lingna Nafaf underscores the exceptionally complex nature of the African liberation struggle and demystifies the common knowledge and accepted wisdom surrounding African slavery. The Home and Foreign Missionary record of The Free Church of Scotland for 1867 The Free Church of Scotland, 1867 Bahia Alex Robinson, 2010 When Brazilians are far from home they dream of Bahia of its powder fine beaches and reef ringed islands of waterfalls in the Diamond mountains of the arid sertão of cobbled streets and pastel painted houses in Salvador. They long for capoeira and the rich spicy smell of Bahian cooking the rhythms of ax and the colour of the world's largest carnival. Vociferously they say You must go. Bradt's Bahia shows the way to the World Heritage sites of Salvador which has the largest collection of colonial baroque in the world and the Discovery Coast rainforests to the best of the beaches around the resorts of Itaparica, Porto Seguro and Trancoso and beyond to the unspoiled island of Boipeba the northern Linha Verde near Mangue Seco and the little explored coast of Sergipe and Alagoas states to Bahia's north Global Historical Sociology of Race and Racism Alexandre I.R. White, Katrina Quisumbing King, 2021-09-30 In this volume of Political Power and Social Theory a special collection of papers reconsiders race and racism from global and historical perspectives. Together these articles serve as an entry point for sharpening our sociological understandings of how racism operates in current times A Global History of Runaways Marcus Rediker, Titas Chakraborty, Matthias van Rossum, 2019-07-30 During global capitalism's long ascent from 1600-1850 workers of all kinds slaves indentured servants convicts domestic workers soldiers and sailors repeatedly ran away from their masters and bosses with profound effects. A Global History of Runaways edited by Marcus Rediker, Titas Chakraborty and Matthias van Rossum compares and connects runaways in the British, Danish, Dutch, French, Mughal, Portuguese and American empires. Together these essays show how capitalism required vast numbers of mobile workers who would build the foundations of a new economic order. At the same time these laborers challenged that order from the undermining of Danish colonization in the seventeenth century to the igniting of civil war in the United States in the nineteenth Born in Blackness: Africa, Africans, and the Making of the Modern World, 1471 to the Second World War Howard W. French, 2021-10-12 Revealing the central yet intentionally obliterated role of Africa in the creation of modernity, Born in Blackness vitally reframes our understanding of world history. Traditional accounts of the making of the modern world afford a place of primacy to European history Some credit the fifteenth century Age of Discovery and the maritime connection it established between West and East others the accidental unearthing of the New World Still others point to the development of the scientific method or the spread of Judeo Christian beliefs and so on ad infinitum The history of Africa by contrast has long been relegated to the remote outskirts of our global story What if instead we put Africa and Africans at the very center of our thinking about the origins of modernity In a sweeping narrative spanning more than six centuries Howard W French does just that for Born in Blackness vitally reframes the story of medieval and emerging Africa demonstrating how the economic ascendancy of Europe the anchoring of democracy in the West and the fulfillment of so called Enlightenment ideals all grew out of Europe's dehumanizing engagement with the dark continent In fact French reveals the first impetus for the Age of Discovery was not as we are so often told even today Europe's yearning for ties with Asia but rather its centuries old desire to forge a trade in gold with legendarily rich Black societies sequestered away in the heart of West Africa Creating a historical narrative that begins with the commencement of commercial relations between Portugal and Africa in the fifteenth century and ends with the onset of World War II Born in Blackness interweaves precise historical detail with poignant personal reportage In so doing it dramatically retrieves the lives of major African historical figures from the unimaginably rich medieval emperors who traded with the Near East and beyond to the Kongo sovereigns who heroically battled seventeenth century European powers to the ex slaves who liberated Haitians from bondage and profoundly altered the course of American history While French cogently demonstrates the centrality of Africa to the rise of the modern world Born in Blackness becomes at the same time a far more significant narrative one that reveals a long concealed history of trivialization and more often elision in depictions of African history throughout the last five hundred years As French shows the achievements of sovereign African nations and their now far flung peoples have time and again been etiolated and deliberately erased from modern history As the West ascended their stories siloed and piecemeal were swept into secluded corners thus setting the stage for the hagiographic rise of the West theories that have endured to this day Capacious and compelling Laurent Dubois Born in Blackness is epic history on the grand scale In the lofty tradition of bold revisionist narratives it reframes the story of gold and tobacco sugar and cotton and of the greatest commodity of them all the twelve million people who were brought in chains from Africa to the New World whose reclaimed lives shed a harsh light on our present world

Europeans Abroad, 1450-1750 David Ringrose, 2018-08-10 This innovative book looks beyond the traditional history of European expansion which highlights European conquests empire building and hegemony in order to explore the more human and realistic dimensions of European experiences abroad David Ringrose argues that Early Modern Europe was relatively poor and that its industrial and military technology while distinctive in some ways was not obviously superior to that of Africa or Asia As a result the interaction between Europeans abroad and the peoples they met was vastly different from the relationship created by the economic and military imperialism of the post 1750 Industrial Revolution Instead the author depicts it as a process of cultural interaction collaboration and assimilation masked by narratives of European conquest or assertion of control Ringrose convincingly shows that Europeans who went abroad before 1700 engaged in an exchange of cross cultural contact and has framed the process in its own time rather than as the precursor of what came later Then as now historical actors knew nothing of the unexpected consequences of their actions
