How to Become an Effective Course Director Bruce W. Newton, Jay H. Menna, Patrick W. Tank, 2008-12-16 Which Way Does Your Desk Face Early in my tenure as a medical neuroscience course director I started receiving comments on student evaluations stating that I was unapproachable For the ten years prior to becoming the course director I taught full time in the gross anatomy course and gave lectures in the medical neuroscience histology and embryology courses This amounted to over 130 student contact hours per year during which time I had not received negative comments concerning approachability At the start of my third year as the medical neuroscience course director I asked Dr P rick Tank who was and still is the gross anatomy course director why I was g ting such comments He looked up at me while I was standing in his office do way and simply said Which way does your desk face He then explained to me how he had arranged his office so that when he sat at his desk he faced the door to give students his immediate attention when they came to see him My desk and chair faced the window putting my back to the students He stated that while my office arrangement avoided annoying refl tions on my computer monitor it sent an unintended message to the students that I did not consider them a priority Once I moved my desk so that my chair faced the door the perception of me as being unapproachable was resolved School ,1928 The Ohio Teacher ,1913 Independent Schools ,1998 Mindful of Words, Second Edition Kathy Ganske, 2020-09-23 This treasured resource for upper elementary and middle school teachers now in a revised second edition with a new lesson
