First Aid United States. Department of the Army,United States. Department of the Navy,United States Marine Corps,U S Army U S Navy & U S Air Force,2005 This manual meets the first aid training needs of individual service members Because medical personnel will not always be readily available the nonmedical service members must rely heavily on their own skills and knowledge of life sustaining methods to survive on the integrated battlefield This publication outlines both self aid and aid to other service members buddy aid More importantly it emphasizes prompt and effective action in sustaining life and preventing or minimizing further suffering and disability First aid is the emergency care given to the sick injured or wounded before being treated by medical personnel The term first aid can be defined as urgent and immediate lifesaving and other measures which can be performed for casualties by nonmedical personnel when medical personnel are not immediately available Nonmedical service members have received basic first aid training and should remain skilled in the correct procedures for giving first aid This manual is directed to all service members The procedures discussed apply to all types of casualties and the measures described are for use by both male and female service members This publication is in consonance with the following North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO International Standardization Agreements STANAGs and American British Canadian and Australian Quadripartite Standardization Agreements QSTAGs

First Aid - Responding to Emergencies ,1996 Apply First Aid John Morris,2012 The Learning Guide is designed to be used together with the Everyday Learning First Aid Training Manual when undertaking a first aid training program

Standard First Aid Training Course United States. Naval Education and Training Command,1982

First Aid Book Andrew Larry,2021-07-13 First aid is the assistance that one gives to a person who has an emergency medical condition such as serious bleeding choking or the need for CPR It is essential for people who may not be trained in other areas of healthcare For example paramedics are valuable because they have medical training and equipment to handle more serious emergencies than someone without those qualifications It is important to learn First Aid because it can help save someone s life This is especially true for those who do not have training in other areas of healthcare and are the first to respond to emergencies It is also important because a person s life may be saved by knowing how to provide basic assistance in an emergency through CPR or the Heimlich maneuver Within the United States alone about 300 000 people die from heart disease every year CDC One should be able to give correct CPR because it could relieve a person from cardiac arrest until medical professionals can arrive First Aid could also be useful for many other reasons such as burns bleeding and bone and muscle injuries The purpose of this book is to inform the reader of the information needed to help someone with an emergency and to provide tips for how to respond if confronted with one When learning how to give first aid it is important to know who would be more appropriate for the situation First aid training can be done in a classroom setting but it may not be necessary There are many reasons why an individual would need first aid training and how it could benefit them or others The most important reason why one would need first aid is because they may not have any other medical training CDC The information you learn will be useful in the future to save a person's life The following are a few reasons why it is important to have first aid training This book covers General First Aid Knowledge First Aid Knowledge to be Mastered and Developed Drugs Used in First Aid Common Types of Drug Administration Sites Splints for Broken Bones and Joints Gravity First Aid Development of Basic First Aid Skills Special Needs of the Elderly People and Handicapped People in Case of Illness or Accident Pregnancy in Case of an Accident Childbirth in Case of an Accident And much more Everyone should know how to give basic first aid such as bandaging wounds splints and using an oxygen mask Knowing how to provide these types of first aid may be useful in the future For example someone who has an injury may not have any medical training however they could be able to give good quality first aid if they were educated on the subject Also knowing how to help with a burn or bleeding wound allows one to help with painlessly Also it could save the person's life until medical professionals arrive This book will surely help you in getting the right knowledge skills and attitude to become a good first aider This book will cover step by step instructions on how to save someone's life      Occupational First Aid Level 1 Workers Compensation Board,2002      Survival First Aid Chris McNab,2001      U. S. Military First Aid Manual Department of Defense,2002-12-23 This manual meets the first aid training needs of individual service members Because medical personnel will not always be readily available the nonmedical service members must rely heavily on their own skills and knowledge of life sustaining methods to survive on the integrated battlefield This publication outlines both self aid and aid to other service members buddy aid More importantly it emphasizes prompt and effective action in sustaining life and preventing or minimizing further suffering and disability First aid is the emergency care given to the sick injured or wounded before being treated by medical personnel The term first aid can be defined as urgent and immediate lifesaving and other measures which can be performed for casualties by nonmedical personnel when medical personnel are not immediately available Nonmedical service members have received basic first aid training and should remain skilled in the correct procedures for giving first aid This manual is directed to all service members The procedures discussed apply to all types of casualties and the measures described are for use by both male and female service members This publication is in consonance with the following North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO International Standardization Agreements STANAGs and American British Canadian and Australian Quadripartite Standardization Agreements QSTAGs Medical Training in First Aid Basic Hygiene and Emergency Care First Aid Kits and Emergency Medical Care Kits Medical First Aid and Hygiene Training in NBC Operations First Aid Material for

Chemical Injuries When a nonmedical service member comes upon an unconscious or injured service member he must accurately evaluate the casualty to determine the first aid measures needed to prevent further injury or death. He should seek medical assistance as soon as possible but he should not interrupt the performance of first aid measures. To interrupt the first aid measures may cause more harm than good to the casualty. Remember that in a chemical environment the service member should not evaluate the casualty until the casualty has been masked. After performing first aid the service member must proceed with the evaluation and continue to monitor the casualty for development of conditions which may require the performance of necessary basic lifesaving measures such as clearing the airway, rescue breathing, preventing shock, and controlling bleeding. He should continue to monitor the casualty until relieved by medical personnel. Service members may have to depend upon their first aid knowledge and skills to save themselves, self aid, or other service members, buddy aid, combat lifesaver. They may be able to save a life, prevent permanent disability, or reduce long periods of hospitalization by knowing WHAT to do, WHAT NOT to do, and WHEN to seek medical assistance. NOTE: The prevalence of various body armor systems currently fielded to US service members and those in development for future fielding may present a temporary obstacle to effective evaluation of an injured service member. You may have to carefully remove the body armor from the injured service member to complete the evaluation or administer first aid. Begin by removing the outer most hard or soft body armor components, open, unfasten, or cut the closures, fasteners, or straps, then remove any successive layers in the same manner. Be sure to follow other notes, cautions, and warnings regarding procedures in contaminated situations and when a broken back or neck is suspected. Continue to evaluate.
