

Unit 1 - Small Moments
Pre-Assessment

Teaching Point:	I can write a small moment story across pages.
CC.9-10	W.1.3.W.1.1.W.1.2.W.1.4
Materials:	Blank booklets/differentiated writing paper for students, pencils, conference notes
Connection:	Introduce the writing workshop by telling children that every day they'll gather for a mini-lesson and write books like those on the surrounding shelves. Explain that for the first unit of study, the students are going to write a lot of true stories about small moments in their lives.
Teach:	Explain to students that when they go back and write today, they are going to write a story about something that has happened to them. It must be a true story about something that has happened in their lives. Let students know that they are going to write this story independently. That means they are going to try to write their story completely on their own.
Active Engagement:	Think-Pair-Share: What are you going to write your story about? Turn and tell your partner.
Link:	Send students off to write their small moment story across the pages of their booklets. Because this is a pre-assessment, writing should be done independently without teacher guidance.
Mid-workshop Intervention:	If you are not sure how to spell something or how to draw something, don't give up! Just try your best and keep going. You can do it!
Differentiation:	Students are arranged on rug in designated spots to lessen distractions from friends. Students that are unable to keep focus while on the rug will be given directions individually. While at the tables, students will work independently, however they can ask their neighbors for help on letter sounds or look at the word wall. Teachers will circulate to prompt those students that have trouble starting or staying on task. Alphabet strips and letter charts are visible for assistance. Students can use paper with multiple lines and a picture box, or picture box with 1-2 lines.
Share:	Praise students for the hard work they did during writer's workshop.
Assess:	Informal observation, think-pair-share, small moment booklets
