The Complete Guide to Using Google in Libraries Carol Smallwood, 2015-03-06 From the Forward by Michael Lesk
Google has now developed services far beyond text search Google software will translate languages and support collaborative writing The chapters in this book look at many Google services from music to finance and describe how they can be used by students and other library users Going beyond information resources there are now successful collaboration services available from Google and others You can make conference calls with video and shared screens using Google Hangouts Writing documents with small numbers of colleagues often involved delays while each author in sequence took over the writing and made edits Today Google Docs enables multiple people to edit the same document at once An ingenious use of color lets each participant watch in real time as the other participants edit and keeps track of who is doing what If the goal is to create a website rather than to write a report Google Sites is now one of the most popular platforms Google is also involved in social networking with services such as Google Other tools view social developments over time and space The Google Trends service for example will show you when and where people are searching for topics Not surprisingly searches for swimwear peak in June and searches for snowmobile peak in January The Complete Guide to Using Google in Libraries Volume 2 Research User Applications and Networking has 30 chapters divided into four parts Research User Applications Networking Searching The contributors are practitioners who use the services they write about and they provide how to advice that will help public school academic and special librarians library consultants LIS faculty and students and technology professionals

Narratives of Qualitative Research Josh Tenenber, 2024-05-21 Narratives of Qualitative Research uses a novel form of writing about how to do qualitative research called a praxis narrative Each narrative is told from the author's perspective in carrying out one of his past research studies in the social sciences Told chronologically and in a first person voice the narratives position the reader alongside the narrator so as to vicariously experience how research happens in its situated particulars Rather than a set of idealizations and universalized pronouncements the author reveals what really goes on when one is in the thick of complex and challenging research studies the points of trouble along with the successes This will be relevant to researchers who have already undertaken one or more empirical research studies though not necessarily using qualitative approaches and now find themselves facing something new a new analytic method a new theoretical lens a new form of data collection a new domain of research questions a new rhetorical approach This requires letting go of the secure handholds of prescribed methods and responding to the contingencies that arise in the midst of the research The reader is invited to follow along as the author makes visible his praxis of qualitative research Unlike more conventional texts in this unique alternative the reader can follow the author's journey through his research studies as a way to reorient their conception of qualitative research and their own praxis of it This is fascinating reading for qualitative researchers and students taking qualitative research courses across the social sciences education and behavioural sciences

Appropriation, and Embodiment Dinis, Frederico,2024-08-21 The age of digital culture has not only brought significant transformations in how we perceive memory history and heritage but it has also raised pressing questions about authenticity and ownership of memory The role of digital technologies in shaping collective identities is a topic of intense scrutiny Moreover contemporary societies grapple with complex issues in the politics of memory especially with the proliferation of diverse narratives and the manipulation of public spaces The book's content is therefore highly relevant offering critical reflection and scholarly analysis to these societal challenges Performativity and the Representation of Memory Resignification Appropriation and Embodiment offers a comprehensive exploration of these issues examining how contemporary practices of re enactment intersect with digital contexts to shape our understanding of memory and heritage The book analyzes the processes of memory creation and transmission in digital environments providing a nuanced understanding of how memory is constructed shared and contested in the digital age It also explores the role of arts based research and participatory practices in documenting and preserving collective memories offering insights into new forms of memory sharing and identity formation Corpus Linguistics and Cross-Disciplinary Action Research Joanna Baumgart, 2021-11-29

In this book Joanna Baumgart offers a detailed and innovative account of how a mixed methods approach combining corpus linguistics and discourse analysis can shed light on educational practice Corpus Linguistics and Cross Disciplinary Action Research is based on a 22 000 word corpus of mathematics lessons in a multicultural secondary school in Ireland with the analysis of classroom data supported by insights from reflective meetings with the participating teacher It demonstrates how examination of video recordings of lessons and reflective conversations facilitate discursive changes in the classroom and increase teacher awareness of classroom interaction Throughout the role of teacher talk is used as a model in the subject specific discourse into which students are socialized Baumgart also relates the story of a successful interdisciplinary approach to action research thereby providing an example of how talk and interaction can be examined within wider educational contexts Building on the premise of the key role which language and talk in particular plays in teaching and learning processes this book will be of keen interest to teacher educators as well as researchers in the fields of corpus linguistics discourse analysis and educational linguistics Exploring Korean Politeness Across Online and Offline Interactions Mary Shin Kim, 2024-07-02 This open access edited volume brings together the latest research on Korean politeness K Politeness from multidisciplinary and multimodal perspectives across a broad range of different interactional contexts and communication platforms both online and offline The volume examines how Korean language speakers construct negotiate and utilize politeness or impoliteness as discursive practices during daily interaction The studies not only include intimate interactions between family members and friends but also institutional interactions between business vendors and customers doctors and patients talk show hosts and their guests as well as politicians The studies include discussions on the perception of Korean im politeness of K wave viewers and fans The role of media is discussed and how it influences public discourse and speakers perception and practice of Korean im politeness This text also examines interactions through instant text messages chat boxes in livestreaming sites online chat boxes with business vendors and related communication channels Although the disciplines and methodologies may vary the studies are based on empirical research This volume provides new insights through contributions from researchers of different disciplines including communications sociolinguistics conversation analysis discourse analysis and pragmatics it appeals to students and researchers in these fields

Politeness Metapragmatics Lucien Brown, Soung-U Kim, 2025-07-29 This volume demonstrates how inductive research into speakers metapragmatic knowledge offers a path for researching what politeness means for language users and how this reshapes politeness theory Through bottom up analysis of interview data collected from Korean speakers from two generations the authors map out a participant oriented perspective on politeness and use these findings to build new theoretical models The results shows that politeness is a multimodal practice tied up with maintaining emotional attunement and engaging in acts of upkeeping or contesting social conventions The book features a thorough overview of extant research in the field three in depth data analysis chapters and a detailed discussion of the results By focusing on the culture specific and empirically grounded ways that language users understand politeness the book contributes to current trends in im politeness research notably third wave approaches that view politeness as a culturally embedded social action Moreover the book lays the groundwork for researching metapragmatics via interview data that can be applied to other languages and aspects of pragmatics This book is a must read for scholars and students of politeness research pragmatics linguistics and cultural studies
