Zimsec 2005 Geography Paper 1:

Urban Geography in Postcolonial Zimbabwe Abraham R. Matamanda, Verna Nel, Innocent Chirisa, 2021-05-07 This interdisciplinary book provides a cross sectoral and multi dimensional exploration and assessment of the urban geography perspectives in Zimbabwe Drawing on work from different disciplines the book not only contributes to academia but also seeks to inform urban policy with the view of contributing to the national aspirations of Zimbabwe attaining middle income status by 2030 Adopting a multi dimensional assessment that transcends disciplines such as urban and regional planning human and physical geography urban governance political science economics and development studies the book provides a background for co production concerning urban development in the Global South The book contributes into its analysis of the institutional and legislative framework that relates to the urban geography of Zimbabwe as these are responsible for the evolution of the urban system in the country The connections among different sectors and issues such as environment economy politics and the wider objectives of the SDGs especially goal 11 aspiring to create sustainable communities by 2030 are explored The success stories relating to urban geography in Zimbabwe are identified together with the best possible practices that may inform urban planning policy and management

Circular Migration in Zimbabwe & Contemporary Sub-Saharan Africa Deborah Helen Potts, 2010 The World Bank insists that the urban share of sub Saharan Africa s population is rapidly increasing this study shows that in many countries this is no longer true as migration strategies have adapted in response to economic and political change Circular migration whereby rural migrants do not remain permanently in town has particular significance in the academic literature on development and urbanization in Africa often having negative connotations in southern Africanist studies due to its links with an iniquitous migrant labour system Literature on other African regions often views circular migration more positively This book reviews the current evidence about circular migration and urbanization in sub Saharan Africa The author challenges the dominant view that rural urban migration continues unabated and shows that circular migration has continued and has adapted with faster out migration in the face of declining urban economic opportunities The empirical core of the book illustrates these trends through a detailed examination of the case of Zimbabwe based on the author s longstanding research on Harare The political and economic changes in Zimbabwe since the 1980s transformed Harare from one of the best African cities to live in over this period to one of the worst Harare citizens livelihoods exemplify in microcosm the central theme of the book the re invention of circulation and rural urban links in response to economic change Deborah Potts is a Senior Lecturer in the Geography Department of King s College London She works in the broad research field of urbanization and migration in sub Saharan Africa particularly southern Africa and has conducted research on these themes in Harare in Zimbabwe since 1985 Southern Africa South Africa Botswana Lesotho Swaziland Namibia and Zimbabwe University of Cape Town Press PB

Digital Activism in Zimbabwe Tenford Chitanana, 2024-10-21 This book investigates the role of the internet and social media in political processes in non western and non democratic contexts Using Zimbabwe as a case study the book demonstrates how activists and ordinary people deploy social media particularly Facebook to subvert an enduring hegemonic state However the book also highlights how authoritarian regimes are in turn learning and adapting to the information age challenging the impact of digital activism Studies of digital activism in the Global South are often centred around democracy but this book paints a more complex picture examining the role and effect of digital activism in challenging state hegemony in authoritarian contexts The book notes that while communication technologies help mediate activism they are also simultaneously constrained by pre existing and emergent challenges tied to the social and political context and the inherent limitations of those technologies The book investigates the tactics used by digital activists the contextual factors and restrictive political environment they operate in including the role of pro government activists and ultimately the impact of digital activism given these constraints From the case of Zimbabwe the book builds out a broader theoretical analysis of the evolution of third world protest in the digital age examining the limitations of activists actions and the ideological deficit in online activism to ferment a virulent counter hegemony making in the contexts of service delivery land management housing new town development and place marketing among others

Zimbabwe since the Unity Government Stephen Chan, Ranka Primorac, 2013-09-13 Zimbabwe has moved from a condition of restricted expression to one of many contradictory expressions Politics has lost none of its compromises and conflicts but it has been amplified by an explosion of voices For the first time a genuine debate is possible among many actors insiders and outsiders and the question marks over Zimbabwe and its future are no longer in terms of a narrow choice between one party and another one outlook or another Compromise government has meant complexity of debate This does not preclude disillusionment within debate but it does include vigour and imagination in debate This book includes essays from renowned scholars governmental and diplomatic figures and prioritises contributions by Zimbabweans themselves The essays provide a blend of academic and practitioner observation and judgement which no other volume has done This book was published as a special issue of The Round Table

Integrated Water Resources Management, Institutions and Livelihoods under Stress Collin C. Mabiza, 2018-03-09 The majority of people in Limpopo river basin depend on rainfed agriculture Unfortunately the Limpopo is water scarce and parts of the basin such as Zimbabwe's Mzingwane catchment are under stress in terms of agro ecological and socio politicoeconomic conditions Integrated Water Resources Management IWRM has been adopted in the river basin

Development Naivety and Emergent Insecurities in a Monopolised World Munyaradzi Mawere, 2018-09-17 It is common knowledge that development without security is like a runaway horse Yet development in Africa has been plagued by insecurities since the extractive periods of slave trade and colonialism In spite of political independence and the euphoria of sovereignty as states Africa has failed to address insecurity which continues to loom large and to threaten aspirations towards truly inclusive and sustainable development A consequence has been Africa's development naivety vis vis the monopolisation of development by the predatory elite actors of the global North and their local facilitators To salvage the continent from such predation and the insecurities engendered requires novel and innovative imagination and praxis This book draws from both the haunted landscapes and bitter memories of past exploitations and from the feeding of the insatiable North with African resources and humanity It brings together essays by a concerned generation of scholars driven by the urgent need for radical decolonisation of African development and its legacies of insecurities It is handy to students and practitioners in economics policy studies political science development studies global and African studies

Sustainable Tourism in Southern Africa Jarkko Saarinen, 2009 The book represents the first accessible examination of the complex connections between tourism and sustainability in southern African context The edited book introduces relationships between tourism sustainability and development with a range of case studies from the region focusing especially on natural resource dependent communities in processes of transition

The New Scramble for Africa Padraig R. Carmody, 2013-04-26 Once marginalized in the world economy the past decade has seen Africa emerge as a major global supplier of crucial raw materials like oil uranium and coltan With its share of world trade and investment now rising and the availability of natural resources falling the continent finds itself at the centre of a battle to gain access to and control of its valuable natural assets China's role in Africa has loomed particularly large in recent years but there is now a new scramble taking place involving a wider range of established and emerging economic powers from the EU and US to Japan Brazil and Russia This book explores the nature of resource and market competition in Africa and the strategies adopted by the different actors involved be they world powers or small companies Focusing on key commodities the book examines the dynamics of the new scramble and the impact of current investment and competition on people the environment and political and economic development on the continent New theories particularly the idea of Chinese flexigemony are developed to explain how resources and markets are accessed While resource access is often the primary motive for increased engagement the continent also offers a growing market for low priced goods from Asia and Asian owned companies Individual chapters explore old and new economic power interests in Africa oil minerals timber biofuels food and fisheries and the nature and impacts of Asian investment in manufacturing and other sectors The New Scramble for Africa will be essential reading for students of African studies international relations and resource politics as well as anyone interested in current affairs

Urban Informality in South Africa and Zimbabwe Innocent Moyo, Trynos Gumbo, 2021-01-09 This book adds to the research of urban informality in the Global South with a specific focus on South Africa and Zimbabwe It addresses the agency and the potential transformative capacity of the phenomenon of urban informality in connection with Southern African cities and towns It adopts a political economy approach to analyse the evolution of informality in cities and its implications for urban planning It brings to bear how the South African and Zimbabwean historical and or ideological and contemporary political and economic trajectories have impacted on the ever changing nature of urban informality both spatially and structurally and or compositionally thus resulting in unique urban materialities which are aspects that have scarcely been studied or discussed in the extant literature This book therefore seeks to close the academic gap by dealing with the dearth of literature on spatial re locational discourses of urban informality The work positions urban informality as a resilient force with potency in terms of political mobilisation and re shaping urban spaces Though these are fundamental issues they have received comparatively little attention especially in literature that focuses on the Southern African region Accordingly undergraduate and post graduate students as well as academics in the fields of Urban Geography Political Science Development Studies Sociology Town and Regional Planning among others will find the range of topics and depth of coverage in this book particularly valuable Similarly practitioners and activists on issues of urban informality and urban governance will find the book very useful

Global Environment Outlook 4 United Nations Environment Programme, 2007 The fourth report in the Global Environment Outlook series provides a comprehensive scientifically credible policy relevant and up to date assessment of and outlook for the state of the global environment Environment for development is the GEO 4 underlying theme and the report pays special attention to the role and impact of the environment on human well being as well as to the use of environmental valuation as a tool for decision making GEO 4 s 2007 publication date marks the half way point for the Millennium Development Goals The environment as well as being the subject of MDG 7 is also a thread that runs through all the goals Includes Errata

The Atlas of World Hunger Thomas J. Bassett,Alex Winter-Nelson,2010-05-15 Earlier this year President Obama declared one of his top priorities to be making sure that people are able to get enough to eat The United States spends about five billion dollars on food aid and related programs each year but still both domestically and internationally millions of people are hungry In 2006 the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations counted 850 million hungry people worldwide but as food prices soared an additional 100 million or more who were vulnerable succumbed to food insecurity If hunger were simply a matter of food production no one would go without There is more than enough food produced annually to provide every living person with a healthy diet yet so many suffer from food shortages unsafe water and malnutrition every year That s because hunger is a complex political economic and ecological phenomenon The interplay of these forces produces a geography of hunger that Thomas J Bassett and Alex Winter Nelson illuminate in this empowering book The Atlas of World Hunger uses a conceptual framework informed by geography and agricultural economics to present a hunger index that combines food availability household access and nutritional outcomes into a single tool one that delivers a fuller understanding of the scope of global hunger its underlying mechanisms and the ways in which the goals for ending hunger can be achieved The first depiction of the geography of hunger worldwide the Atlas will be an important resource for teachers students and anyone else interested in understanding the geography and causes of hunger This knowledge the authors argue is a critical first step toward eliminating unnecessary suffering in a world of plenty

Property and Political Order in Africa Catherine Boone,2014-02-10 In sub Saharan Africa property relationships around land and access to natural resources vary across localities districts and farming regions These differences produce patterned variations in relationships between individuals communities and the state This book captures these patterns in an analysis of structure and variation in rural land tenure regimes In most farming areas state authority is deeply embedded in land regimes drawing farmers ethnic insiders and outsiders lineages villages and communities into direct and indirect relationships with political authorities at different levels of the state apparatus The analysis shows how property institutions institutions that define political authority and hierarchy around land shape dynamics of great interest to scholars of politics including the dynamics of land related competition and conflict territorial conflict patron client relations electoral cleavage and mobilization ethnic politics rural rebellion and the localization and nationalization of political competition

The Economics of Climate Change Nicholas Herbert Stern,Great Britain. Treasury,2007-01-04 Independent rigorous and comprehensive analysis of the economic aspects of climate change

Migrant Remittances and Household Survival in Zimbabwe Daniel Tevera,Abel Chikanda,2008-12-31 Migrant remittances are now recognised as an important source of global development finance and there is increasing evidence that international remittances have considerable developmental impacts The contribution of remittances to GDP in many developing countries is significant and has shown a steady increase over the past decade However while there is a consensus that remittance flows to Africa are increasing little attention has been paid to the impact of these transfers on poverty alleviation primarily because of data deficiencies at the household level Despite their obvious magnitude accurate data on remittance flows to Zimbabwe is unavailable or inaccessible In an attempt to address such data deficiencies SAMP devised the household level Migration and Remittances Survey MARS which was administered in several SADC countries including Zimbabwe The MARS study was implemented in Zimbabwe in 2005 and surveyed 723 urban and rural households

Zimbabwes Lost Decade Lloyd Sachikonye, 2012-04-24 Zimbabwe occupies a special place in African politics and international relations and has been the subject of intense debates over the years At independence in 1980 the country was better endowed than most in Africa and seemed poised for economic development and political pluralism The population was relatively well educated the industrial and agricultural bases were strong and levels of infrastructure were impressive However in less than two decades Zimbabwe was mired in a deep political and economic crisis Towards the end of its third decade of independence the economy had collapsed and the country had been transformed into a repressive state How can we make sense of this decline How can we explain the lost decade that followed Can the explanation be reduced to the authoritarian leadership of Robert Mugabe and role of ZANU PF Or was something defective about in the institutions through which the state has exercised its authority Or was it the result of imperialism the West and sanctions Zimbabwes Lost Decade draws on Lloyd Sachikonyes analyses of political developments over the past 25 years It offers a critique of leadership systems of governance and economic strategies and argues for democratic values and practices and more broad based participation in the development process
