

The Impossible Victory: Vietnam

From 1864 to 1972, the most intense and most powerful nation in the history of the world made a monstrous military effort, with everything short of atomic bombs, to defeat a nationless revolutionary government in a deep, peasant country—and failed. When the United States fought in Vietnam, it was organized modern technology versus organized human beings, and the human beings won.

In the course of that war, they developed in the United States the greatest machine movement that nation had ever experienced, a machine that played a critical part in bringing the war to an end.

It was another startling fact of the clock.

In the fall of 1945 Japan, defeated, was forced to leave Indochina, the former French colony it had occupied at the start of the war. In the meantime, a revolutionary movement had grown there, determined to end colonial control and to achieve a new life for the peasants of Indochina. Led by a Communist named Ho Chi Minh, the revolutionists fought against the Japanese, and when they were given a spectacular celebration in Hanoi in late 1945, with a million people in the streets, and issued a Declaration of Independence. It borrowed from the Declaration of the Rights of Man and the Citizen, in the French Revolution, and from the American Declaration of Independence, and began: "All men are created equal. They are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, among them are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness." Just as the Americans in 1776 had listed their grievances against the English King, the Vietnamese listed their complaints against French rule:

They have violated human laws. . . . They have made more prisons than prisons. They have mercilessly slain our parents, they have destroyed villages in view of school. They have destroyed public institutions. . . . They have robbed us of our rice fields, our houses, our forests, and our own mother's milk.

They have invented machines and machines have used weapons and people, machinery and people, in a state of endless poverty.

From the end of last year, in the beginning of this year . . . must

Against the Vietnam War Mary Susannah Robbins, 2007 The protest movement in opposition to the Vietnam War was a complex amalgam of political social economic and cultural motivations factors and events Against the Vietnam War brings together the different facets of that movement and its various shades of opinion Here the participants themselves offer statements and reflections on their activism the era and the consequences of a war that spanned three decades and changed the United States of America The keynote is on individual experience in a time when almost every event had national and international significance Rethinking America's Past Robert Cohen, Sonia E. Murrow, 2021-11-01 No introductory work of American history has had more influence over the past forty years than Howard Zinn's A People's History of the United States which since its publication in 1980 has sold more than three million copies Zinn's iconoclastic critique of American militarism racism and capitalism has drawn bitter criticism from the Right most recently from President Donald Trump who at his White House Conference on American History in 2020 denounced Zinn as a Left propagandist and accused teachers aligned with Zinn of indoctrinating students to hate America and be ashamed of its history Rethinking America's Past is the first work to use archival and classroom evidence to assess the impact that Zinn's classic work has had on historical teaching and learning and on American culture This evidence refutes Trump's charges showing that rather than indoctrinating students Zinn's book has been used by teachers to have students debate and rethink conventional versions of American history Rethinking America's Past also explores the ways Zinn's work fostered deeper more critical renderings of the American past in movies and on stage and television and traces the origins and assesses the strengths and weaknesses of A People's History in light of more recent historical scholarship Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1968 The Congressional Record is the official record of the proceedings and debates of the United States Congress It is published daily when Congress is in session The Congressional Record began publication in 1873 Debates for sessions prior to 1873 are recorded in The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States 1789-1824 the Register of Debates in Congress 1824-1837 and the Congressional Globe 1833-1873 The New York Times Index, 1972 Subject Examination in -- A History of the Vietnam War, 2008 Victory at Any Cost Cecil B. Currey, 2022-03-04 Many people do not understand why America lost the Viet Nam War Author Cecil B Currey makes one primary reason clear North Viet Nam's Senior Gen Vo Nguyen Giap Victory at Any Cost tells the full story of the man who fought three of the world's great powers and beat them all Questions and Answers about the Vietnam War, 1967 The Myth of Inevitable US Defeat in Vietnam C. Dale Walton, 2002 Dale Walton's book offers a unique and comprehensive analysis that considers US strategic decisionmaking at a number of levels and shows how US errors created the military and political conditions that made North Vietnamese victory possible If the United States political military effort had not negated its main advantages indeed even if it had avoided only a small number of its many strategic errors the outcome of the Indochina conflict would most likely have

Vietnam Howard Zinn, 2012-11 Zinn's compelling case against the Vietnam War now with a new introduction Of the many books that challenged the Vietnam War Howard Zinn's stands out as one of the best and most influential It helped sparked national debate on the war It includes a powerful speech written by Zinn that President Johnson should have given to lay out the case for ending the war The Wrong War Jeffrey Record, 1998 Was the U S military prevented from achieving victory in Vietnam by poor decisions made by civilian leaders a hostile media and the antiwar movement or was it doomed to failure from the start Twenty five years after the last U S troops left Vietnam the most divisive U S armed conflict since the War of 1812 remains an open wound not only because 58 000 Americans were killed and billions of dollars wasted but also because it was an ignominious unprecedented defeat In this iconoclastic new study Vietnam veteran and scholar Jeffrey Record looks past the consensual myths of responsibility to offer the most trenchant balanced and compelling analysis ever published of the causes for America's first defeat Sure to spark widespread discussion and argument among veterans academics policy makers military professionals and interested citizens this landmark contribution breaks new ground by candidly examining the strategic failures of the military's leadership long portrayed as innocent victims and exploring whether a different policy could have avoided defeat With a rare blend of relevant personal experience and impeccable scholarship Record establishes four root causes for the U S defeat in a logical easy to follow argument that explodes earlier professional assessments and popular appraisals Vietnam noble cause international crime or strategic mistake Record's surprising and sometimes incendiary answers to these and other questions critical to the future success of the civilian run military will ensure that the armed forces accountability in Vietnam is no longer overlooked Unheralded Victory Mark W. Woodruff, 2000

Unheralded Victory is a revisionist history of the Vietnam war charting the defeat of the Viet Cong It investigates why the popular image of the war then as now is that propagated by Hanoi's propaganda machine and why US propaganda was so clumsy Many myths are debunked drug use among forces fragging US morale the author's account squares with the recollection of actual veterans He also exposes a number of eyewitnesses some active in the veterans organizations who were never in Vietnam and whose false testimony has contributed to enduring myth of the crazed Nam veteran as portrayed in cinema and TV
