Seeking Impact and Visibility Trotter, Henry, Kell, Catherine, 2014-06-12 African scholarly research is relatively invisible globally because even though research production on the continent is growing in absolute terms it is falling in comparative terms. In addition, traditional metrics of visibility such as the Impact Factor fail to make legible all African scholarly production. Many African universities also do not take a strategic approach to scholarly communication to broaden the reach of their scholars' work. To address this challenge, the Scholarly Communication in Africa Programme (SCAP) was established to help raise the visibility of African scholarship by mapping current research and communication practices in Southern African universities and by recommending and piloting technical and administrative innovations based on open access dissemination principles. To do this, SCAP conducted extensive research in four faculties at the Universities of Botswana, Cape Town, Mauritius, and Namibia.

The Mexico City Reader Ruben Gallo, 2009-09-29 Mexico City is one of Latin America's cultural capitals and one of the most vibrant urban spaces in the world. The Mexico City Reader is an anthology of Cronicas, short hybrid texts that are part literary essay, part urban reportage about life in the capital. This is not the City of Palaces of yesteryear but the vibrant, chaotic, anarchic urban space of the 1980s and 1990s: the city of garbage mafias, necrophiliac artists, and kitschy millionaires. Like the visitor wandering through the city streets, the reader will be constantly surprised by the visions encountered in this mosaic of writings: a textual space brimming with life and crowded with flirts, neurotic students, Indian dancers, food vendors, fortune tellers, political activists, and peasant protesters. The essays included in this anthology were written by a panoply of writers from well-known authors like Carlos Monsivís and Jorge Ibagón to younger figures like Fabrizio Mejía Madrid and Juieta García González, all of whom are experienced practitioners of the city. The texts collected in this anthology are among the most striking examples of this concomitant theory and practice of Mexico City, that most delirious of megalopolises. An exciting literary journey. Carolyn Malloy, Multicultural Review.

The University, State, and Market Robert A. Rhoads, Carlos Alberto Torres, 2006 This is an examination of the complex relationships among universities, states, and markets in light of the growing influence of globalization.

Media System and News Selections in Namibia Andreas Rothe, 2010 What is the status quo of the Namibian media system? What radio and TV stations, what newspapers and magazines compete for the attention of the Namibian citizen? What is the situation regarding press freedom and the formal education prospective journalists receive? How do Namibian journalists select news? Is the so far European focused News Value Theory a sensible explanatory approach for that? How does news selection differ from Namibia to Germany, from private to state media in Namibia, from print to broadcasting? These are some of the central issues author Andreas Rothe addresses in this English language version of his diploma thesis.
