Introduction

The Spring 2022 release of SIMS and FMS has moved to the 4 April 2022 to support the release of our SIMS Next Generation programme. As part of this release, we will be checking that customers are entitled to use the software updates included in the release.

This annual entitlement eligibility check ensures that SIMS and FMS software updates can be used only by schools that have or had an annual entitlement agreement that was current at the time the software update was released.

The eligibility check will not affect the release upgrade process itself, whether delivered via SOLUS or ISO, which can be carried out as normal.

SIMS customers without current annual entitlement agreements will not be able to access or use the Census menu option in SIMS, since this has been updated as part of the Spring 2022 release and FMS customers without current annual entitlement agreements will be unable to access the CFR menu option, which has also been updated in the Spring 2022 release. In both cases, the successful application of a valid eligibility key will reactivate the appropriate functionality in SIMS and FMS. All other menu items will function normally.

If your school does not have a current annual entitlement agreement, then to obtain an eligibility key, you will need to accept ESS' annual entitlement agreement terms either via our online web contracting portal or by paying our annual entitlement service invoice. If you accept the terms through ESS' web portal, it will take approximately two business days to register your new contract, for the eligibility check to kick in and an eligibility key email to be sent. If you accept our terms by paying our invoice, it can take up to 10 business days to process your payment, register your new agreement and for the eligibility check to kick in, and an eligibility key email to be sent.

Local Authority maintained schools that have relied on their Local Authority SIMS or FMS licence to allow them to use ESS' software should be aware that in many cases, these licences have now expired. If this is the case, you will only be entitled to use SIMS or FMS if you have accepted ESS' annual entitlement agreement terms, which include a new licence, or have purchased a new SIMS and/or FMS licence from ESS.

The eligibility check has been designed to be as automated and invisible as possible.
