Whitelam,2013-11-19 The Invention of Ancient Israel shows how the true history of ancient Palestine has been obscured by the search for Israel Keith W. Whitelam shows how ancient Israel has been invented by scholars in the image of a European nation state influenced by the realisation of the state of Israel in 1948 He explores the theological and political assumptions which have shaped research into ancient Israel by Biblical scholars and contributed to the vast network of scholarship which Said identified as Orientalist discourse This study concentrates on two crucial periods from the end of the late Bronze Age to the Iron Age a so called period of the emergence of ancient Israel and the rise of an Israelite state under David It explores the prospects for developing the study of Palestinian history as a subject in its own right divorced from the history of the Bible and argues that Biblical scholars through their traditional view of this area have contributed to dispossession both of a Palestinian land and a Palestinian past This controversial book is important reading for historians Biblical specialists social anthropologists and all those who are interested in the history of ancient Israel and Palestine Learning to Teach

A culture of curiosity Leonie Hannan, 2023-08-01
 This study explores the practice of scientific enquiry as it took place in the eighteenth century home
 While histories of science have identified the genteel household as an important site for scientific experiment they have tended to do so via biographies of important men of science
 Using a wide range of historical source material from household accounts and inventories to letters and print culture this book investigates the tools within reach of early modern householders in their search for knowledge
 It considers the under explored question of the home as a site of knowledge production and does so by viewing scientific enquiry as one of many interrelated domestic practices
 It shows that knowledge production and consumption were necessary facets of domestic life and that the eighteenth century home generated practices that were integral to Enlightenment enquiry
