The Moot Papers:

The Moot Papers Keith Clements, 2015-02-26 The Moot was the study and discussion group set by J H Oldham 1874 1969 following the 1937 Oxford conference on Church Community and State Its purpose was to continue in an informal but serious way exploration of the relation between church and society and the realization of Christian ethics in the public sphere The Moot met twice or three times a year from 1938 to 1947 21 times in all and was convened by Oldham with the conscious intention of responding to the grave crisis that was felt to be facing western society in Britain no less than on the continent of Europe Overall some 35 people attended the Moot at one time or another but its core comprised a small number of regular members who were representative of the highest levels in theology social science and public affairs In addition to Oldham himself they included T S Elliot H A Hodges Eleonora Iredale Adolf L we Karl Mannheim Walter Moberly John Middleton Murry and Alec Vidler Other participants included Kathleen Bliss Fred Clarke Christopher Dawson H H Farmer Hector Hetherington Walter Oakshott and Gilbert Shaw while notables such as Reinhold Niebuhr Melville Channing Pearce Donald McKinnon Philip Mairet Leslie Newbiggin William Paton Frank Pakenham later Lord Longford Michael Polanyi and Oliver Tomkins made occasional guest appearances Against the background of impending and then actual war the discussions in the Moot repeatedly focused on the planned nature of modern society and therewith the roles if any within it of moral choice and the Christian community Catalogue of the Moot Papers University of London. The Modernist God State Michael Lackey, 2012-03-22 The Modernist God State seeks to overturn the traditional secularization approach to intellectual and political history and to replace it with a fuller understanding of the religious basis of modernist political movements Lackey demonstrates that Christianity instead of fading after the Enlightenment actually increased its power by becoming embedded within the concept of what was considered the legitimate nation state thus determining the political agendas of prominent political leaders from King Leopold II to Hitler Lackey first argues that novelists can represent intellectual and political history in a way that no other intellectual can Specifically they can picture a subconscious ideology which often conflicts with consciously held systems of belief short circuiting straight into political action an idea articulated by E M Forster Second in contrast to many literary scholars who discuss Hitler and the Nazis without studying and quoting their texts Lackey draws his conclusions from close readings of their writings In doing so he shows that one cannot understand the Nazis without taking into account the specific version of Christianity underwriting their political agenda The ^AYear of Our Lord 1943 Alan Jacobs, 2018-07-02 The Year of Our Lord 1943 tells the story of how five Christian intellectuals Jacques Maritain T S Eliot C S Lewis W H Auden and Simone Weil sought to provide a plan for the moral and spiritual renewal of the Western democracies in the post World War II world young sociology students and furnish them with a deeper understanding of the development of British sociology The volume contains essays by distinguished sociologists and historians who discuss British sociology's controversial origins the neglected legacies of several individuals and institutions the history of how the discipline was taught in the UK throughout the twentieth century and its peculiar relationships with statistics and the humanities The History of Sociology in Britain reveals the distinct character of British sociology through the course of its historical evolution It is an original contribution and valuable addition to the field which intersects with historiography epistemology and literature

Education for Democracy in England in World War II Hsiao-Yuh Ku, 2020-04-07 Education for Democracy in England in World War II examines the educational discourse and involvement in wartime educational reforms of five important figures Fred Clarke R H Tawney Shena Simon H C Dent and Ernest Simon These figures campaigned for educational reforms through their books publishing articles in newspapers delivering speeches at schools and conferences and by organizing pressure groups Going beyond the literature in this key period the book focuses on exploring the relationship between democratic ideals and reform proposals in each figure's arguments Displaying a variety of democratic forums for debates about education beyond parliament the book reinterprets wartime educational reforms from a different perspective and illustrates the agreements and contradictions in the educational discourse itself

Civil Society in British History Jose Harris,2005-07-14 This book explores the many different strands in the language of civil society from the sixteenth to the twentieth centuries Through a series of case studies it investigates the applicability of the term to a wide range of historical settings These include state interference voluntary associations economic decision making social and economic planning the bourgeois public sphere civil society in wartime the inclusion and exclusion of women and relations between the state the voluntary sector and individual citizens The contributors suggest that the sharp distinction between civil society and the state common in much continental thought was of only limited application in a British context They show how past understandings of the term were often very different from even in some respects the exact opposite of those held today arguing that it makes more sense to understand civil society as a phenomenon that varies between different cultures and periods rather than a universally applicable set of principles and procedures

Christopher Dawson Joseph T. Stuart, 2022-01-14 The English historian Christopher Dawson 1889 1970 was the first Catholic Studies professor at Harvard University and has been described as one of the foremost Catholic thinkers of modern times Joseph T Stuart argues that through Dawson's study of world cultures he acquired a cultural mind by which he attempted to integrate knowledge according to four implicit rules intellectual architecture boundary thinking intellectual asceticism and intellectual bridges Dawson responded to the cultural fragmentation after the Great War 1914 1918 through this multilayered approach to culture which was an instantiation of John Henry Newman's philosophical habit of mind Stuart demonstrates how Dawson formed his cultural mind practicing an interdisciplinary science of culture involving anthropology sociology history and comparative religion and applied his cultural thinking to problems in politics and education
