Laurel Weldon, 2013-12-09 Violence against women is one of the most insidious social ills facing the world today Yet governmental response is inconsistent ranging from dismissal to aggressive implementation of policies and programs to combat the problem In her comparative study of thirty six democratic governments Laurel Weldon examines the root causes and consequences of the differences in public policy from Northern Europe to Latin America She reveals that factors that often influence the development of social policies do not determine policies on violence against women Neither economic level religion region nor the number of women in government determine governmental responsiveness to this problem Weldon demonstrates for example that Nordic governments take no more action to combat violence against women than Latin American governments even though the Swedish welfare state is often considered a leader in social policy particularly with regard to women s issues Instead the presence of independently organized active women s movements plays a greater role in placing violence against women on the public agenda The breadth and scope of governmental response is greatly enhanced by the presence of an office dedicated to promoting women s status Weldon closes with practical lessons and insights to improve government action on violence against women and other important issues of social justice and democracy Biennial Scientific Report 1997-1998 Koninkrijk Nederlands Meteorologisch Instituut, 1999 Transportation Statistics Annual Report (1997) Marsha Fenn, 1998-12 Reports on the state of U S transportation system at two levels Provides a statistical and interpretive survey of the system its physical characteristics economic attributes aspects of its use and performance and the scale and severity of unintended consequences of transportation such as fatalities and injuries oil import dependency and environment impacts Explores in detail the performance of the system from the perspective Charts and tables References List of acronyms European Social Charter Council of Europe.
