Enron Lehman Brothers and Dodd Frank Clean Disruption of Energy and Transportation Tony Seba, 2014-06-27 The industrial age of energy and transportation will be over by 2030 Maybe before Exponentially improving technologies such as solar electric vehicles and autonomous self driving cars will disrupt and sweep away the energy and transportation industries as we know it The same Silicon Valley ecosystem that created bit based technologies that have disrupted atom based industries is now creating bit and electron based technologies that will disrupt atom based energy industries Clean Disruption projections based on technology cost curves business model innovation as well as product innovation show that by 2030 All new energy will be provided by solar or wind All new mass market vehicles will be electric All of these vehicles will be autonomous self driving or semi autonomous The new car market will shrink by 80% Even assuming that EVs don't kill the gasoline car by 2030 the self driving car will shrink the new car market by 80% Gasoline will be obsolete Nuclear is already obsolete Up to 80% of highways will be redundant Up to 80% of parking spaces will be redundant The concept of individual car ownership will be obsolete The Car Insurance industry will be disrupted The Stone Age did not end because we ran out of rocks It ended because a disruptive technology ushered in the Bronze Age The era of centralized command and control extraction resource based energy sources oil gas coal and nuclear will not end because we run out of petroleum natural gas coal or uranium It will end because these energy sources the business models they employ and the products that sustain them will be disrupted by superior technologies product architectures and business models This is a technology based disruption reminiscent of how the cell phone Internet and personal computer swept away industries such as landline telephony publishing and mainframe computers Just like those technology disruptions flipped the architecture of information and brought abundant cheap and participatory information the clean disruption will flip the architecture of energy and bring abundant cheap and participatory energy Just like those previous technology disruptions the Clean Disruption is inevitable and it will be swift Logistics and Retail Management John Fernie, Leigh Sparks, 2014-04-03 The 21st century has being a monolithic force conquering the world Walmart must confront and adapt to diverse policies and practices pertaining to regulation economy history union organization preexisting labor cultures and civil society in every country into which it enters This transnational aspect of the Walmart story including the diversity and flexibility of its strategies and practices outside the United States is mostly unreported Walmart in the Global South presents empirical case studies of Walmart's labor practices and supply chain operations in a number of countries including Chile Brazil Argentina Nicaragua Mexico South Africa and Thailand It assesses the similarities and differences in Walmart's acceptance into varying national contexts which reveals when and how state regulation and politics have served to redirect company practice and to what effect Regulatory context state politics trade unions local cultures and global labor solidarity emerge as vectors with very different force around the world The volume's contributors show how and why foreign workers have successfully though not uniformly driven changes in Walmart's corporate culture This makes Walmart in the Global South a practical guide for organizations that promote social justice and engage in worker struggles including unions worker centers and other nonprofit entities

Technically Together Taylor Dotson, 2024-02-06 Why we should not accept networked individualism as the inevitable future of community If social interaction by social media has become the modern front porch as one sociologist argues offering richer and more various contexts for community and personal connection why do we often feel lonelier after checking Facebook For one thing as Taylor Dotson writes in Technically Together Try getting a Facebook status update to help move a couch or stay for dinner Dotson argues that the experts who assure us that networked individualism will only bring us closer together seem to be urging citizens to adapt their social expectations to the current limits of technology and discouraging them from considering how technologies could be refashioned to enable other ways of relating and belonging Dotson characterizes different instantiations of community as thick or thin depending on the facets and manifestations of togetherness that they encompass Individuating social networks are a form of community he explains but relatively thin in regard to several dimensions of communality Dotson points out that current technological practices are not foreordained but supported by policies economic arrangements and entrenched patterns of thought He examines a range of systems organizations and infrastructures from suburban sprawl and smartphones to energy grids and cry it out sleep training for infants and considers whether they contribute to the atomization of social life or to togetherness and community vibrancy Dotson argues that technology could support multifaceted communities if citizens stopped accepting the technological status quo and instead demanded more from their ever present devices

Human, All Too (Post)Human Jennifer

Cotter, Kimberly DeFazio, Robert Faivre, Amrohini Sahay, Julie P. Torrant, Stephen Tumino, Robert Wilkie, 2016-06-02 The contemporary has marked itself off from modernity by questioning its humanism that centers the world around the human as the moral subject of free will and self determination the bearer of universal essence that is the basis of human rights Modernism normalizes humanism through language as referential a set of interrelated signs that correspond to the empirical reality outside it Humanist modernity in other words is seen in the contemporary as a regime that by separating the human from the non human and insisting on language as correspondence not only fails to engage the emerging forms of social relations in which the boundaries of human and machine are fading but is also indifferent to the difference between the other s life and other lives Human All Too Post Human The Humanities after Humanism argues that the Nietzschean tendencies that provide the philosophical boundaries of post humanism do not undo humanism but reform it constructing a parallel discourse that saves humanism from itself Grounded in materialist analysis of social life Human All Too Post Human argues that humanism and post humanism are cultural discourses that normalize different stages of capitalism analog and digital capitalism They are different orders of property relations The question the writers argue is not humanism or post humanism namely cultural representations but the material relations of production that are centered on wage labor Language free will or human rights are not the issues since Right can never be higher than the economic structure of society and its cultural development conditioned thereby The question that shapes all questions in Human All Too Post Human is freedom from wage labor

Big Hunger Andrew Fisher,2018-04-13 How to focus anti hunger efforts not on charity but on the root causes of food insecurity improving public health and reducing income inequality Food banks and food pantries have proliferated in response to an economic emergency The loss of manufacturing jobs combined with the recession of the early 1980s and

Reagan administration cutbacks in federal programs led to an explosion in the growth of food charity. This was meant to be a stopgap measure but the jobs never came back and the emergency food system became an industry. In Big Hunger Andrew Fisher takes a critical look at the business of hunger and offers a new vision for the anti hunger movement. From one perspective anti hunger leaders have been extraordinarily effective. Food charity is embedded in American civil society and federal food programs have remained intact while other anti poverty programs have been eliminated or slashed. But anti hunger advocates are missing an essential element of the problem: economic inequality driven by low wages. Reliant on corporate donations of food and money, anti hunger organizations have failed to hold business accountable for offshoring jobs, cutting benefits, exploiting workers and rural communities, and resisting wage increases. They have become part of a hunger industrial complex that seems as self-perpetuating as the more famous military industrial complex. Fisher lays out a vision that encompasses a broader definition of hunger, characterized by a focus on public health, economic justice, and economic democracy. He points to the work of numerous grassroots organizations that are leading the way in these fields as models for the rest of the anti hunger sector. It is only through approaches like these that we can hope to end hunger, not just manage it.
