The Imperial Trace Nancy Condee, 2009-04-08 The collapse of the USSR seemed to spell the end of the empire yet it by no means foreclosed on Russia's enduring imperial preoccupations which had extended from the reign of Ivan IV over four and a half centuries Examining a host of films from contemporary Russian cinema Nancy Condee argues that we cannot make sense of current Russian culture without accounting for the region's habits of imperial identification But is this something made legible through narrative alone Chechen wars at the periphery costume dramas set in the capital or could an imperial trace be sought in other more embedded qualities such as the structure of representation the conditions of production or the preoccupations of its filmmakers This expansive study takes up this complex question through a commanding analysis of the late Soviet and post Soviet period auteurs Kira Muratova Vadim Abdrashitov Nikita Mikhalkov Aleksei German Aleksandr Sokurov and Aleksei Balabanov      Landscape and Memory in Post-Fascist Italian Film Giuliana Minghelli, 2014-06-11 This study argues that neorealism's visual genius is inseparable from its almost invisible relation to the Fascist past a connection inscribed in cinematic landscapes While largely a silent narrative neorealism's complex visual processing of two decades of Fascism remains the greatest cultural production in the service of memorialization and comprehension for a nation that had neither a Nuremberg nor a formal process of reconciliation Through her readings of canonical neorealist films Minghelli unearths the memorial strata of the neorealist image and investigates the complex historical charge that invests this cinema This book is both a formal analysis of the new conception of the cinematic image born from a crisis of memory and a reflection on the relation between cinema and memory Films discussed include Ossessione 1943 Paisà 1946 Ladri di biciclette 1948 and Cronaca di un amore 1950      Places of Commemoration Joachim Wolschke-Bulmahn, 2001 Everyone is occupied consciously or unconsciously with identity one's origin and the question of one's place in humankind and society of the past present and future Identity and memory are not stable and objective things but representations or constructions of reality related to a particular interest such as class gender of power relations Identity is problematic without history and without the commemoration of history and of course such remembrance may distort historical events and facts When dealing with gardens a substantial part of our physical environment there are always unspoken questions of identity Places of Commemoration examines commemorative sites of different character including gardens landscapes memorials cemeteries and sites of former Nazi concentration camps detailing the ideas behind the creation of memorials and monuments and the struggles over the narratives they present The Accidental Playground Daniel Campo, 2013-09-10 The Accidental Playground explores the remarkable landscape created by individuals and small groups who occupied and rebuilt an abandoned Brooklyn waterfront While local residents activists garbage haulers real estate developers speculators and two city administrations fought over the fate of the former Brooklyn Eastern District Terminal BEDT others simply took to this decaying edge transforming it into a unique venue for leisure creative and everyday practices These occupiers and do it yourself builders created their own waterfront parks and civic spaces absent every resource needed for successful urban development including plans designs capital professional assistance consensus and permission from the waterfront's owners Amid trash ruins weeds homeless encampments and the operation of an active garbage transfer station they inadvertently created the Brooklyn Riviera and made this waterfront a destination that offered much more than its panoramic vistas of the Manhattan skyline The terminal evolved into the home turf for unusual and sometimes spectacular recreational social and creative subcultures including the skateboarders who built a short lived but nationally renowned skatepark a twenty five piece public marching band fire performance troupes artists photographers and filmmakers At the same time it served the basic recreational needs of local residents Collapsing piers became great places to catch fish sunbathe or take in the views the foundation of a demolished warehouse became an ideal place to picnic practice music or do an art project rubble strewn earth became a compelling setting for film and fashion shoots a broken bulkhead became a beach and thick patches of weeds dotted by ailanthus trees became a jungle These reclamations all but ignored by city and state governments and property interests that were set to transform this waterfront momentarily added to the distinctive cultural landscape of the city's most bohemian and rapidly changing neighborhood Drawing on a rich mix of documentary strategies including observation ethnography photography and first person narrative Daniel Campo probes this accidental playground allowing those who created it to share and examine their own narratives perspectives and conflicts The multiple constituencies of this waterfront were surprisingly diverse their stories colorful and provocative When taken together Campo argues they suggest a radical reimagining of urban parks and public spaces and the practices by which they are created and maintained The Accidental Playground which treats readers to an utterly compelling story is an exciting and distinctive contribution to the growing literature on unplanned spaces and practices in cities today Masculinity and Place in American Literature since 1950 Vidya Ravi, 2019-05-15 American literature has long celebrated the figure of the self made man and the idea of establishing selfhood particularly male selfhood in nature However during the crisis of masculinity that swept across America in the middle of the twentieth century a generation of writers started exploring a different kind of a man This was a figure who was concerned not so much with the loss of the West or the desire to recover a wilderness but with how to live in an ordinary domesticated continent Masculinity and Place in American Literature since 1950 explores the role of place in negotiating reinforcing and subverting articulations of hegemonic masculinity in the work of four American writers from the latter part of the 20th century John Cheever John Updike Raymond Carver and Richard Ford The book argues that American fiction by white male writers between the 1950s and the present day is compelled by the troubled and troubling relationship between masculinity and place This relationship is deeply embedded in how ideals of masculinity are predicated upon the experience of the physical world and how the symbolic logic of masculinity is continually subverted by alternative conceptions of dwelling and ecological consciousness Undermining Lucy R.

Lippard,2006-09-13 A marvelous slim book that weaves ideas facts images and histories into a whole about the ecology of the manmade world Rebecca Solnit In Undermining the award winning author art historian and social critic Lucy R Lippard delivers another trademark work that combines text and full color images to explore the intersection of art the environment geography and politics Kirkus Reviews Working from her own experience of life in a New Mexico village and inspired by the gravel pits in the surrounding landscape Lippard addresses a number of fascinating themes including fracking mining land art adobe buildings ruins Indian land rights the Old West tourism photography and water In her meditations she illuminates the relationship between culture industry and the land From threatened Native American sacred sites to the history of uranium mining she offers a skeptical examination of the subterranean economy Featuring more than two hundred gorgeous color images Undermining offers a provocative new perspective on the relationship between art and place in a rapidly shifting society Lippard s strength lies in the depth of her commitment her dual loyalty to tradition and modernity and her effort to restore the broken connection between the two Suzi Gablik The New York Times Book Review California Vieja

Ruptured Landscapes Helen Sooväli-Sepping, Hugo Reinert, Jonathan Miles-Watson, 2015-06-15 This volume breaks new ground in the study of landscapes both rural and urban The innovative notion of this landscape collection is rupture The book explores the ways in which societal economic and cultural changes are transforming the meanings and understandings of landscapes The text explores both how landscapes are contesting changes in society and changing society The volume combines empirically fine grained accounts of landscape rupture from different parts of the world with a sustained effort to explore rethink and analytically extend the concept of rupture itself The book therefore combines fresh empirical data with innovative theoretical approaches to open understanding of landscape as a dynamic living entity subject to abrupt change and unpredictable disruptions Through this dual reflection the volume is able to provide a powerful demonstration of the possibilities that are available for human action social change and material landscape to combine

The Green Braid Kim

Tanzer, Rafael Longoria, 2007-04-11 This volume presents the discipline's best thinking on sustainability in written, drawn and built form drawing on over fifteen years of peer reviewed essays and national design awards published by the Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture (ACSA). Providing a primer on sustainability useful to teachers and students alike, the selected essays address a broad range of issues. Combined with design projects that highlight issues holistically, they promote an understanding of the principles of sustainability and further the integration of sustainable methods into architectural projects. Using essays that alternately revise and clarify twentieth century architectural thinking, The Green Braid places sustainability at the centre of excellent architectural design. No other volume addresses sustainability within the context of architectural history, theory, pedagogy and design, making this book an ideal source for architects in framing their practices and therefore their architectural production in a sustainable manner. The Aesthetics of Natural Environments Allen

Dark Satanic Mills might spring to mind, images of blackened buildings and exhausted, exploited workers struggling in unhealthy and ungodly conditions. But for some employees, this image was far from the truth, and this is the subject of The Factory in a Garden, which traces the history of a factory gardens movement from its late eighteenth century beginnings in Britain to its twenty-first century equivalent in Google's vegetable gardens at their headquarters in California. The book is the first study of its kind, examining the development of parks, gardens and outdoor leisure facilities for factories in Britain and America as a model for the reshaping of the corporate environment in the twenty-first century. This is also the first book to give a comprehensive account of the contribution of gardens, gardening and recreation to the history of responsible
