Cultural Mediation in Language Learning and Teaching Geneviève Zarate, Council of Europe, European Centre for Modern Languages, 2004-01-01 This project attempts to tackle several challenges to experience the variety of different teaching cultures as a source of innovation rather than as an obstacle to adopt a pluridisciplinary approach by introducing references taken from the social sciences in order to develop reflection on the role of languages in social cohesion to try and provide answers to a question hitherto rarely raised in the didactics of languages and cultures namely the place of cultural mediation itself CoE website

Corpus-informed Research and Learning in ESP Alex Boulton, Shirley Carter-Thomas, Elizabeth Rowley-Jolivet, 2012 These specially commissioned studies cover corpus informed approaches to researching teaching and learning English for Specific Purposes ESP. The corpora used range from very large published corpora to small tailor made collections of written and spoken text as well as parallel and contrastive corpora in both the hard and softer sciences. Designed to tackle the problems faced by a variety of first and second language ESP users, specialised translators, undergraduates, junior and experienced researchers and language trainers, the breadth of approaches enables treatment of issues central to ESP and corpus research from corpus compilation and analysis to new applications and data driven learning. The first full length book on applied corpus use in France, Corpus Informed Research and Learning in ESP, will be of interest not only to those working in the French context but to a wide variety of language professionals, teachers, researchers or course designers in many countries looking at ESP from different linguistic, cultural and educational perspectives. Grammar in ELT and ELT Materials Graham Burton, 2023-06-06. This book investigates the content of the grammar syllabus typically employed in mainstream English Language Teaching. Using a mixed methods approach, the author examines how the syllabuses used in coursebooks are actually constructed, how they evolved and how valid their contents are as a basis for teaching. The research reported consists of a broad exploration of primary sources in order to outline the evolution of ELT pedagogical grammar, ten interviews with key ELT authors and publishing professionals which allows for the investigation of the decision making processes underlying the choice of grammar content in ELT teaching materials, and finally the presentation of case studies which examine three areas of grammar, analysing the evolution of their treatment in ELT materials, both historical and contemporary, and comparing their current treatment to data on real learner use. This book contributes to the literature on syllabus design and pedagogical grammar and builds on existing research into materials design. It will be of interest to researchers and professionals working in the fields of applied linguistics, pedagogical grammar, curriculum design and materials design. The SEL Solution Jonathan C. Emerging Curriculum Andrew J.C. Begg, 2008-01-01 An important contribution that Emerging curriculum makes is a reconceptualizing of the curriculum development process This moves development thinking from the traditional research development dissemination model to one that acknowledges the interrelatedness of many influences on curriculum the multi layered nature of curriculum and the complexity of the educational system in which curriculum exists Indeed the educational system is envisaged as a complex living system The study is autobiographical it is based on a lifetime spent in education during which the author had a particular interest in curriculum and the associated development processes and how one's ideas about these change over time Emerging curriculum has been successfully submitted as a PhD thesis but was written as a book for a wider audience than the traditional thesis one It shows by example how reflection on one's work throughout one's career can be considered as research and can contribute to knowledge in a similar way to that of more traditional doctoral research projects It is hoped that teachers reading this will relate to the author's experiences in schools and will see themselves significant contributors to curriculum that curriculum developers will be provoked into considering alternative ways of working and that academics might move curriculum theorising closer to the reality of schools
