technology have soared in popularity. Studies suggest that the interaction between the two would prove beneficial to both the academic and corporate domains. This integration would serve to enable support and manage modern businesses. Strategic Information Technology Governance and Organizational Politics in Modern Business gives voice to fresh perspectives on the development, implementation and practice of information systems and technology in organizations. This book is beneficial for business people, undergraduate students, postgraduate candidates and researchers looking to gain a more in-depth understanding of the influence of socio-technical factors on ICT operations. Gender, Protests and Political Change in Africa Awino Okech, 2020-07-03. This book brings together conceptual debates on the impact of youth hood and gender on state building in Africa. It offers contemporary and interdisciplinary analyses on the role of protests as an alternative route for citizens to challenge the ballot box as the only legitimate means of ensuring freedom. Drawing on case studies from seven African countries, the contributors focus on specific political moments in their respective countries to offer insights into how the state-society social contract is contested through informal channels and how political power functions to counteract citizens' voices. These contributions offer a different way of thinking about state building and structural change that goes beyond the system-based approaches that dominate scholarship on democratization and political structures. In effect, it provides a basis for organizers and social movements to consider how to build solidarity beyond influencing government institutions. Chapters 3, 5 and 6 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com. Decolonisation after Democracy Laurence Piper, 2020-05-21. Decolonisation after Democracy addresses the provocative idea that we need to rid higher education of lingering forms of colonial knowledge. This matters because in the colonial era much knowledge was put to the service of subjugating indigenous peoples and the assumptions from this era may linger into the present. Examples of deep-rooted and foundational forms of knowledge that carry colonial traits are normative binaries such as civilised and backward, modern and traditional, and rational and superstitious. In addition, some accounts of positive values like freedom, equality, justice and democracy may hide the assumption that the western experience is the norm from which other kinds are rendered imitations, deviations or pathologies. In this collection, some of South Africa's leading political scientists and academics engage with the challenge of decolonising knowledge in the research and teaching of politics. It includes new insights about the state, international relations, clientelism, state-society relations and land reform and introduces new ways to engage the colonial library, curriculum reform and the marginality of historically black institutions. Finally, the contributors deal with the decolonial challenge posed by the FeesMustFall student movements reflecting on issues of revolutionary politics and gender and sexual violence. This book was originally published as a special issue of Politikon. BRICS and Resistance in Africa Justin van der Merwe, Patrick Bond, Nicole Dodd, 2019-10-15. Though initially considered a welcome counterweight to Western interest across Africa, the BRICS are increasingly being viewed as another example of foreign interference and exploitation. BRICS and Resistance in Africa explores the varied forms of African resistance being developed in response to the growing influence of the BRICS Its case studies cover such instances as the opposition to China's One Belt One Road initiative in East Africa resistance to the BRICS oil activities in the Niger Delta and the role of the BRICS in Zimbabwe's political transition The contributors expose the contradictions between the group's rhetoric and its real impact as well as the complicity of local elites in serving as proxies for the BRICS nations By challenging and expanding the debates surrounding BRICS involvement in Africa this collection offers new insight into resistance to globalization in the global South Deanship in the Global South Oliver J.J. Seale, 2021-02-08

The university today is a postmodern neo liberal competitive boundary less knowledge conglomerate a far cry from its historical traditional classical and collegial roots There is a body of literature on deanship that points to its evolving nature in the contemporary academe characterised by complexity and change Balancing academic demands simultaneously with the requirements for effective performance leadership and management lies at the heart of this very challenging bridging role nowadays Deans are generally former academics emerging from a traditional collegial space and often catapulted into the relatively unknown domain of executive management with its related problems Deans nowadays are required to be more than collegial intellectual leaders They are also meant to be fiscal and human resource experts fundraisers politicians and diplomats Deanship in the Global South Bridging Troubled Waters is about the deans lived reality as they try to balance the demands of both the academe from which they emerge and the administration to whom they now need to account Their lack of preparation and inadequate support points to the need for a more strategic integrated approach to leadership development within their critical bridging roles between the academe and administration Learning for a Better Future Suzanne

Hattingh, 2021-12-31 Various international scholars and associates of the PASCAL Place Social Capital and Learning Regions International Observatory Africa hub under the auspices of the Centre for Local Economic Development CENLED based at the University of Johannesburg UJ have contributed chapters in this scholarly book The book aims to demonstrate how a combination of globalisation pandemics and the impact of innovation and technologies are driving towards a world in which traditional ideas are being challenged The book carries forward a dual context and relevance to South African social educational economic and cultural development and the broader international context and action directed at how lifelong learning for all can be fostered in communities as a foundation for a just human centred sustainable world The distinctive contribution of this book to the production of a local body of knowledge lies in the symbiotic relationships between these objectives so that South Africa could serve as a test case in working towards approaches that have a wider international significance ECRM2016-Proceedings of the 15th European Conference on Research Methodology for Business
