International Practices to Promote Budget Literacy Harika Masud, Helene Pfeil, Sanjay Agarwal, Alfredo Gonzalez Briseno, 2017-08-09 Budget literacy is defined as the ability to read decipher and understand public budgets to enable and enhance meaningful citizen participation in the budget process It is comprised of two main parts i a technical understanding of public budgets including familiarity with government spending tax rates and public debt and ii the ability to engage in the budget process comprising of practical knowledge on day to day issues as well as an elementary understanding of the economic social and political implications of budget policies the stakeholders involved and when and how to provide inputs during the annual budget cycle Given that no international standards or guidelines have been established for budget literacy education to date this book seeks to address this gap by taking stock of illustrative initiatives promoting budget literacy for youth in selected countries The underlying presumption is that when supply side actors in the budget process governments simplify and disseminate budget information for demand side actors citizens this information will then be used by citizens to provide feedback on the budget. However, since citizens are often insufficiently informed about public budgets to constructively participate in budget processes, one way to empower them and to remedy the problem of budget illiteracy is to provide budget literacy education in schools to youth, helping them evolve into civic-minded adults with the essential knowledge needed for analyzing their government's fiscal policy objectives and measures and the confidence and sense of social responsibility to participate in the oversight of public resources. This book elaborates on approaches, learning outcomes, pedagogical strategies, and assessment approaches for budget literacy education and presents lessons that are relevant for the development, improvement, or scaling up of budget literacy initiatives. Sultanahmet, Istanbul's Historic Peninsula

Pinar Aykaç, 2022-01-05. This book explores how the museum concept has expanded beyond the boundaries of a single building into the historic city itself through musealization. Articulating the musealization of historic cities as a specific urban process, the book here presents a study of the transformation of the Sultanahmet district on Istanbul's historic peninsula, which has been the major focus of planning, conservation, and museological studies in Turkey since the 19th century as the public face of the city. The author aims to offer empirically grounded and context-specific insight into the role of museums in the regeneration of historic cities. Musealization as an urban process varies in different geographical, cultural, and ideological contexts and across different time periods. By discussing the Sultanahmet district as a specific context of yet another city subjected to the musealization process, this book provides further insights into this important global phenomenon.

Intercultural Communication Kathryn Sorrells, Sachi Sekimoto, 2025-08-05. Intercultural Communication: Globalization and Social Justice Fourth Edition introduces students to the study of communication among cultures within the broader context of globalization. Through a social justice approach, this text equips students with the skills and knowledge to create a more equitable world through communication. Antarctica and the Earth System Michael P. Meredith, Jess

Melbourne-Thomas, Alberto C. Naveira Garabato, Marilyn Raphael, 2025-04-17. This book presents a state-of-the-art overview of the role that Antarctica and the Southern Ocean play as integral parts of the Earth System. While often characterised as the last great wilderness on Earth, Antarctica is intimately connected to the rest of the planet, exerting key influences on all places and all people. It is also vulnerable to global changes, especially those driven by humans. This book examines how Antarctica and the Southern Ocean are connected to the rest of the planet and what these connections mean for the future of Planet Earth and all its inhabitants. It transcends traditional disciplinary boundaries to explore this role across physical, ecological, political, and social systems. Drawing on the latest research findings and thinking, the volume identifies the current leading order challenges across each of these spheres, highlighting areas where enhanced focus is needed. With the role of Antarctica in the Earth System being one of the most relevant themes of our times, this book will help audiences to understand Antarctica and the Southern Ocean in a global perspective. Antarctica and the Earth System will be of great interest to a wide range of interdisciplinary students and scholars of Earth sciences, Antarctic studies, polar science, and environmental management The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under the Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license

Urban Regeneration and Neoliberalism Clare Kinsella, 2020-10-29 This book explores the concept of home in Liverpool over phases of regeneration following the Second World War. Using qualitative research in the oral history tradition it explores what the author conceptualises as forward facing regeneration in the period up to the 1980s and neoliberal regeneration interventions that prioritise the past from the 1980s to the present. The author examines how the shift towards city centre focused redevelopment and event led initiatives has implications for the way residents make sense of their conceptualisations of home and demonstrates how the shift in regeneration focus discourse and practice away from Liverpool's neighbourhood districts and towards the city centre has produced changes in the ways that residents identify with neighbourhoods and the city centre with prominence being given to the latter. Employing Pierre Bourdieu's concepts of habitus and field as mechanisms for understanding different senses of home and shifts from localised views to globalised views this book will appeal to those with interests in urban sociology regeneration geography sociology home cultures and cities
