

3. Marking points

3.1 Marking of lists

This applies to questions requiring a set number of responses, but for which students have provided extra responses. The general principle to be followed in such a situation is that 'right + wrong = wrong'.

Each error / contradiction negates each correct response. So, if the number of errors / contradictions equals or exceeds the number of marks available for the question, no marks can be awarded.

However, responses considered to be neutral (indicated as * in example 1) are not penalised.

Example 1: What is the pH of an acidic solution?

[1 mark]

Student	Response	Marks awarded
1	green, 5	0
2	red*, 5	1
3	red*, 8	0

Example 2: Name two magnetic materials.

[2 marks]

Student	Response	Marks awarded
1	iron, steel, aluminium, copper	2

3.2 Marking of questions requiring a list

For questions requiring a specified number of responses (maximum of 10 responses), students may provide more than the specified number of responses. In such cases, the question should be marked as follows:

3.2.1 Marking questions requiring a list

When a student has provided the right number of responses, responses are marked correctly. An incorrect response is marked as incorrect. An incorrect response to a calculation question may also result from the student providing a calculation that is given correctly. The student's mark may be awarded.

Full marks are only awarded for a correct final answer from incorrect working.

3.2.2 Interpretation of 'or'

Answers using the word 'or' should be given credit only if it is clear that the 'or' refers to the correct answer.
