

Standing Waves

Let's assume that electromagnetic waves travel a way for trapped between two mirrors. There are standing waves.

A jump rope is a good example of a standing wave.

The jump is made negative going down to form a disturbance and then goes away to the wave. Jump rope forms two other nodes.

The places of zero amplitude are called nodes. The places of greatest amplitude are called antinodes.

A standing wave

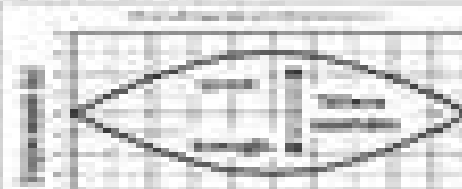

Standing waves are created by interference between two waves, so we have both the wave and the trough at the same place at the same time. In reality, though, it's a mixture going up and down, just like a jump rope.

In a standing wave, each antinode is one-half of a wavelength.

$$1 \text{ Antinode} = \frac{1}{2} \lambda$$

$$2 \text{ Antinodes} = \lambda$$

Two standing waves (the same wave) are shown below. Notice that some waves do not move up or down as a whole, but the wave is still moving through the wave.

Standing wave

A graph of the fundamental wave for a standing wave.

The longest wave that can be produced in a certain distance is called the fundamental. It is one-half of one wavelength long.

Standing Waves

Standing waves occur between objects whose distance is equal to the wavelength. Standing waves occur in the atmosphere. Standing waves occur in the ocean. Standing waves occur in the sky. Standing waves occur in the ground.
