Learning History in America Lloyd S. Kramer,Donald Reid,William L. Barney,1994-01-01 The essays in this book like all other texts have been written in a historical context that shapes both the themes and the prose styles of the authors A close reading of these texts would in fact lead to many overlapping contexts of politics social hierarchies modern communications and international relations but we want to focus briefly on two contextual influences that carry the most obvious connections to this book the wide ranging public debate about the proper curriculum for American schools and universities and the more specific debate among historians about new trends in historical scholarship The Canadian Oral History Reader Kristina R. Llewellyn,Alexander Freund,Nolan Reilly,2015-06-01 Despite a long and rich tradition of oral history research few are aware of the innovative and groundbreaking work of oral historians in Canada For this first primer on the practices within the discipline the editors of The Canadian Oral History Reader have gathered some of the best contributions from a diverse field Essays survey and explore fundamental and often thorny aspects in oral history methodology interpretation preservation and presentation and advocacy In plain language they explain how to conduct research with indigenous communities navigate difficult relationships with informants and negotiate issues of copyright slander and libel The authors ask how people s memories and stories can be used as historical evidence and whether it is ethical to use them at all Their detailed and compelling case studies draw readers into the thrills and predicaments of recording people s most intimate experiences and refashioning them in transcripts and academic analyses They also consider how to best present and preserve this invaluable archive of Canadian memories The Canadian Oral History Reader provides a rich resource for community and university researchers undergraduate and graduate students and independent scholars and documentarians and serves as a springboard and reference point for global discussions about Canadian contributions to the international practice of oral history Contributors include Brian Calliou independent scholar Elise Chenier Simon Fraser University Julie Cruikshank University of British Columbia Alexander Freund University of Winnipeg Steven High Concordia University Nancy Janovicek University of Calgary Jill Jarvis Tonus independent scholar Kristina R Llewellyn Renison University College University of Waterloo Bronwen Low McGill University Claudia Malacrida University of Lethbridge Joy Parr Western University Joan Sangster Trent University Emmanuelle Sonntag Universit du Qu bec Montr al Pamela Sugiman Toronto Metropolitan University Winona Wheeler University of Saskatchewan and Stacey Zembrzycki Concordia University

Bibliography of the History of Medicine ,1972 What Do We Learn From Objects and Artefacts That We Can't Learn From Documents and Written Sources? J. A. Lowe,2014-04-02 Essay from the year 2013 in the subject History Miscellaneous grade 2 1 University of Central Lancashire course Modern World History language English abstract History has been conveyed and explored in a number of different mediums Written sources are useful as an understanding and analysis of the past but there are other means in which to get closer and more hands on with history In Neil MacGregor s A History of the World in 100 Objects he states that most of us learn history from books but physical objects often give us much more immediate access to the ideas and concerns of the people who made them This essay will assess the importance of objects as a means of learning about the past It will also discuss what historical objects can provide to historical studying and learning that written texts cannot in both academic and non academic areas Rethinking Our Classrooms, Volume 1 ,
