Design and Function

General

All of the engines have a 12-volt, 1-pole electrical system as standard, with an alternator. The exception is the KA(M)D44/300 which has a 1.5-pole system as standard.

The TAMD31M/41M/41M can have a 24 V 1.5-pole electrical system as an option.

The electrical systems of engine versions can otherwise differ in terms of equipment. The workshop manual does not state what is standard equipment or options or accessories. It only describes the repair methods.

The generator is ready to be equipped with a wall mounted charge divider (twin diode) which divides the charge current to two separate battery circuits.
