Education and International Development, 2000-2020 Ian Wash, 2024-08-22 Education and International Development 2000 2020 A Constructivist Critique of the One size fits all Liberal Model advances the claim that there exists a liberal theory of international education Ian Wash argues that the assumed harmony of this model is the main source of dispute in the field of education and international development The liberal thinking behind the aspirations for education the political levers necessary for its effective governance and the ideas behind the policies all have contributed towards growing tensions that prevented international education from achieving optimal functionality Through a qualitative discourse analysis of the key policy documents produced between 2000 and 2020 Wash reveals how the liberal model was discursively constructed as a grand narrative of three acts that chronicles the vision process and outcomes of international education Such a rendering brings an understanding of the hidden conflicts essential for finding a resolution to this policy puzzle thereby improving the prosperity and wellbeing of those in poorer countries

Eliminating Human Poverty Santosh Mehrotra, Enrique Delamonica, 2013-07-04 This book focuses on the provision of basic social services in particular access to education health and water supplies as the central building blocks of any human development strategy The authors concentrate on how these basic social services can be financed and delivered more effectively to achieve the internationally agreed Millennium Development Goals Their analysis which departs from the dominant macro economic paradigm deploys the results of broad ranging research they led at UNICEF and UNDP investigating the record on basic social services of some 30 developing countries In seeking to learn from these new data they develop an analytical argument around two potential synergies at the macro level between poverty reduction human development and economic growth and at the micro level between interventions to provide basic social services Policymakers they argue can integrate macro economic and social policy Fiscal monetary and other macro economic policies can be compatible with social sector requirements They make the case that policymakers have more flexibility than is usually presented by orthodox writers and international financial institutions and that if policymakers engaged in alternative macro economic and growth oriented policies this could lead to the expansion of human capabilities and the fulfillment of human rights This book explores some of these policy options The book also argues that more than just additional aid is needed Specific strategic shifts in the areas of aid policy decentralized governance health and education policy and the private public mix in service provision are a prerequisite to achieve the goals of human development The combination of governance reforms and fiscal and macro economic policies outlined in this book can eliminate human poverty in the span of a generation
