E. B. Du Bois' Africa Taharka Ade,2023-08-15 W E B Du Bois was one of the leading figures of Pan African thought and activism in the twentieth century As a sociologist Du Bois wrote much about the historical and social circumstances of African Americans while often acknowledging the African historical background of much of African American or Negro culture In 1946 Du Bois published The World and Africa which was a culmination of previous attempts at penning a narrative of African history beginning with his 1915 publication The Negro in which he included the social historical experience of African Americans within the continuity of African history This book delivers for the first time a comprehensive Afrocentric investigation and critique of Du Bois's writings on African history It argues that while Du Bois presented at the time a strong critique of the Eurocentric construction of African history many of Du Bois's descriptions and arguments about African people and history were likewise flawed with interpretations that projected the cultural subjectivities of Europe Further while Du Bois rightfully presents the historical relationship between African Americans and Africa as a justification for Pan African activism this book contends that Du Bois's failure to center African culture instead of race leads to superficial justifications for Pan African unity

Decolonizing Science David S. Jacobs, 2025-04-24 Science denial is on the rise globally Part of the reason for this is that science falsely portrayed as a solely European invention alienates most of the world This book traces the historical development of science and shows how its history and philosophy were shaped by Europe s colonial agenda Racial and gendered prejudices were converted into scientific concepts and the history of human civilization was repurposed to portray science as a European invention In the process it was ancient Greek scholars like Thales and Euclid who were credited with the invention of modern science Abstract theorizing became a defining characteristic of science and human experience became non essential Biodiversity including human diversity was viewed as consisting of discrete non overlapping types As a consequence humanity was divided into a hierarchy of races and genders This view of the world is divorced from reality and the reason why modern science struggles to explain humanity intelligence and life Using a more realistic historical perspective the author argues that racial and gendered identities are not relevant to science or any other sphere of human endeavour Instead the author advocates for realism that will make science logically consistent inclusive humane and relevant
