

The Skin (Integumentary System)

Basic Structure of the Skin

1. The skin has three layers of complexity, each in order from the surface (epidermis) down (dermis) and hypodermis. Each skin layer has its own role in the body's defence and regulation of the internal environment.

The three layers of the skin are:

- Epidermis
- Dermis
- Hypodermis

Epidermis: The outermost layer of the skin.

Dermis: The middle layer of the skin.

Hypodermis: The innermost layer of the skin.

Epidermis

2. The epidermis is the outermost layer of the skin. It is composed of several layers of cells, with the outermost layer being the thickest. The epidermis is responsible for protecting the body from the external environment.

3. The dermis is the middle layer of the skin. It is composed of a dense network of collagen fibers and elastin fibers, which give the skin its strength and elasticity. The dermis is responsible for regulating the body's temperature and protecting the epidermis from damage.
