Friedman-Wheeler, Amy Wenzel, 2024-10-24 Courses in psychological distress and disorders are among the most popular courses in psychology programs and mood and anxiety disorders are among the most prevalent disorders covered in these classes and encountered by mental health professionals Although there are books on mood and anxiety disorders on particular aspects of them and on their presentation in specific populations such works do not provide students new to the field with a comprehensive and accessible ready reference for understanding these disorders with respect to their phenomenology etiology and treatment and through an inclusive lens that consistently considers how these symptoms appear and are construed across cultures addressing societal factors such as race culture equity and oppression It is hoped that The SAGE Encyclopedia of Mood and Anxiety Disorders will fill this gap allowing students and other interested readers to become familiar with past and current approaches and theories and to enhance their understanding of the sociocultural factors that affect how we discuss approach and treat these types of psychological distress As such consideration of sociocultural factors will infuse the three volume set The encyclopedia will consist of approximately 450 entries essays arranged alphabetically within three volumes iMind Mohamed I. Allan Hobson, 2005-04-21 What is dreaming and what causes it Why are dreams so strange and why are they so hard to remember Replacing dream mystique with modern dream science J Allan Hobson provides a new and increasingly complete picture of how dreaming is created by the brain Focusing on dreaming to explain the mechanisms of sleep this book explores how the new science of dreaming is affecting theories in psychoanalysis and how it is helping our understanding of the causes of mental illness J Allan Hobson investigates his own dreams to illustrate and explain some of the fascinating discoveries of modern sleep science while challenging some of the traditionally accepted theories about the meaning of dreams He reveals how dreaming maintains and develops the mind why we go crazy in our dreams in order to avoid doing so when we are awake and why sleep is not just good for health but essential for life ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable

Home John S Allen, 2015-12-29 A leading anthropologist studies the science behind feeling at home to show us how home made us human Home is where the heart is Security comfort even love are all feelings that are centered on the humble abode But what if there is more to the feeling of being at home Neuroanthropologist John S Allen believes that the human habitat is one of the most important products of human cognitive technological and cultural evolution over the past two million years In Home Allen argues that to feel at home is more than just an expression but reflects a deep seated cognitive basis for the human desire to have use and enjoy a place of one's own Allen addresses the very basic question How did a place to sleep become a home Within human evolution he ranks house and home as a signature development of our species as it emerged alongside cooperative hunting language and other critical aspects of humanity Many animals burrow making permanent home bases but primates generally speaking do not most wander making nests at night wherever they might find themselves This is often in home territory but it isn't quite home Our hominid ancestors were wanderers too so how did we over the past several million years find our way home To tell that story Allen will take us through evolutionary anthropology neuroscience the study of emotion and modern sociology He examines the home from the inside of our heads out homes are built with our brains as much as with our hands and tools Allen argues that the thing that may have been most critical in our evolution is not the physical aspect of a home but developing a feeling of defining creating and being in a home whatever its physical form The result was an environment relatively secure against whatever horrors lurked outside that enabled the expensive but creative human mind to reach its full flowering Today with the threat of homelessness child foster care and foreclosure this idea of having a home is more powerful than ever In a clear and accessible writing style Allen sheds light on the deep cognitive sources of the pleasures of having a home the evolution of those behaviors and why the deep reasons why they matter Home is the story about how humans evolved to create a space not only for shelter but also for nurturing creativity innovation and culture and why feeling at home is a fundamental aspect of the human condition

Sleep and the Novel Michael Greaney, 2018-04-04 Sleep and the Novel is a study of representations of the sleeping body in fiction from 1800 to the present day which traces the ways in which novelists have engaged with this universal indispensable but seemingly nondescript region of human experience Covering the narrativization of sleep in Austen the politicization of sleep in Dickens the queering of sleep in Goncharov the aestheticization of sleep in Proust and the medicalization of sleep in contemporary fiction it examines the ways in which novelists envision the figure of the sleeper the meanings they discover in human sleep and the values they attach to it It argues that literary fiction harbours on its margins a sleeping partner one that we can nickname the Schlafroman or sleep novel whose quiet absorption in the wordlessness and passivity of human slumber subtly complicates the imperatives of self awareness and purposive action that traditionally govern the novel Sleep in Early Modern England Sasha Handley,2016-09-27 SELECT

Learning and the Affective Approach Acene Fleurmons,2017-05-16 My book Learning and the Affective Approach is a demonstration of the importance of affection love association and integration for kids preschoolers and schoolers in their immediate environment and learning journey That was an intellectual work that led us to a profound reflection on learning and on human intelligence which we redefined in chapter 1 which facilitates the learning process how we acquire knowledge what makes people appear more intelligent or less and what hinders the process of acquiescing knowledge Lastly we have come to understand why Benjamin Bloom had so much success with the publication of his Taxonomy of Educational Objectives Cognitive Domain in 1956 In addition we understood why David Krathwohl had to build upon Blooms ideas to publish a new book on educational taxonomy related to affection The former infuses cognitive notions into the kids mind and the latter relaxes it to facilitate the reception chapter 2
