Woeser, 2020-04-01 When Red Guards arrived in Tibet in 1966 intent on creating a classless society they unleashed a decade of revolutionary violence political rallies and factional warfare marked by the ransacking of temples the destruction of religious artifacts the burning of books and the public humiliation of Tibet's remaining lamas and scholars Within Tibet discussion of those events has long been banned and no visual records of this history were known to have survived In Forbidden Memory the leading Tibetan writer Tsering Woeser presents three hundred previously unseen photographs taken by her father then an officer in the People's Liberation Army that show for the first time the frenzy and violence of the Cultural Revolution in Tibet Found only after his death Woese's annotations and reflections on the photographs edited and introduced by the Tibet historian Robert Barnett are based on scores of interviews she conducted privately in Tibet with survivors Her book explores the motives and thinking of those who participated in the extraordinary rituals of public degradation and destruction that took place carried out by Tibetans as much as Chinese on the former leaders of their culture Heartbreaking and revelatory Forbidden Memory offers a personal literary discussion of the nature of memory violence and responsibility while giving insight into the condition of a people whose violently truncated history they are still unable to discuss today Access the glossary

Beyond My Reach M. E. Sapphire, 2003 An endeavor of love is the only way to aptly depict the motivation and deep love flowing from her heart into this poetry compilation from the outside to the inside Beyond My Reach is unique in that it was written from the free world to an incarcerated lover With much love more than 200 poems were written to express the intense love thriving within this lonely sweetheart during the last four years the length of their heated romance from a distance Ms Sapphire's amorous declarations of devotion were the only inspiration needed to profess her passion and write the first poem I Close My Eyes She never imagined then the poetry would someday amass into a quantity great enough to fill a book Written solely to verbalize new emotions of love each poem in this book was inspired by one young man confined behind tall concrete walls and razor wire of the penal system BEYOND THE WALLS Each day you face a dismal existence Wondering what's beyond that prison wall So many youthful years you've wasted What made you err you barely recall Double locked doors quarantine your life In triple layered concrete cages Tall dual fences loops of razor wire Stand sentinel over inmates of all ages Incarceration has taken a deadly toll on you Never trusting dreading each new dawn Privacy embezzled by constant vigilance Leaves you silent fearful and withdrawn The world is soon forgotten behind the walls As you obey endless ever changing rules Constantly watching your back danger lurks Fearing brawls protecting your family jewels Being an inmate with untainted record Double locked doors will surely open for you Living on the outside can soon resume You've learned your lesson freedom is overdue Your true love awaits you beyond those walls When you're thrust from that dismal womb Born

On the Other Side(s) of 150 Linda M. Morra, Sarah Henzi, 2021-05-20 On the Other Side s of 150 explores the different literary historical and cultural legacies of Canada s sesquicentennial celebrations It asks vital questions about the ways that histories and stories have been suppressed and invites consideration about what happens once a commemorative moment has passed Like a Cubist painting this modality offers a critical strategy by which also to approach the volume as dismantling reassembling and re enacting existing commemorative tropes as offering multiple conditional and contingent viewpoints that unfold over time and as generating a broader although far from being comprehensive range of counter memorial performances The chapters in this volume are thus provisional interconnected and adaptive they offer critical assemblages by which to approach commemorative narratives or showcase lacunae therein by which to return to and intervene in ongoing readings of the past from the present moment and by which not necessarily to resolve but rather to understand the troubled and troubling narratives of the present moment Contributors propose that these preoccupations are not a means of turning away from present concerns but rather a means of grappling with how the past informs or is shaped to inform them and how such concerns are defined by immediate social contexts and networks
