Everyday Nature:

Knowledge of the Natural World in Colonial New York ,2007 In Everyday Nature Sara Gronim shows how scientific

advances were received in the early modern world from the time Europeans settled in America until just before the American Revolution Settlers approached a wide range of innovations such as smallpox inoculation maps and surveys Copernican cosmology and Ben Franklin s experiments with electricity with great skepticism New Yorkers in particular were distrustful because of the chronic political and religious factionalism in the colony Those discoveries that could be easily reconciled with existing beliefs about healing the sick agricultural practices and the revolution of the planets were more readily embraced

Six Minutes to Winter Mark Lynas, 2025-05-08 Terrifying and timely this is a book everyone should read and heed George Monbiot Urgent gripping and sobering Six Minutes to Winter is a hair raising wake up call David Wallace Wells Powerful and insightful Although many have forgotten about nuclear weapons we shouldn t Charles Oppenheimer The world is currently closer to superpower conflict than at any time since the 1962 Cuban Missile Crisis World War III is a real possibility and with 12 000 warheads in the arsenals of more than half a dozen countries we are standing on a nuclear knife edge Despite receiving very little attention nuclear war is a far greater threat to humanity s immediate survival than climate change While climate heating threatens humanity over many decades nuclear war could destroy civilisation in just a few hours A major missile exchange would mean months of near total darkness followed by a decade long global nuclear winter that would destroy most life on Earth Virtually everyone would starve in the resulting worldwide famine and there would be no reliable refuge We are sleepwalking to Armageddon There are no mass marches no COPs no nuclear Greta But the climate experience teaches us that ignoring a problem is no solution and that a worldwide mobilisation can work Six Minutes to Winter presents an unflinching view of the nuclear nightmare but also describes how weapons can be taken off hair trigger alert and ultimately abolished altogether If human civilisation is to survive long term we have no alternative
