Now in its second edition this important book examines test validity in the behavioral social and educational sciences by exploring three fundamental problems measurement causation and meaning Psychometric and philosophical perspectives and unresolved issues receive attention as the authors explore how measurement is conceived from both the classical and modern perspectives Split into three accessible sections the first contrasts theories of measurement as applied to the validity of behavioral science measures and the second considers causal theories of measurement as well as alternative theories of causation The final section explores the meaning and interpretation of test scores as they apply to test validity offering a conceptual overview of the field and its current state Each carefully revised chapter begins with an overview of key theories and literature concludes with a list of suggested readings and features boxes with real life situations that connect theory to practice Examples of specific issues include How tests can assess an attribute without measuring it The role of values in test validity Interpreting responses to the same question in different languages Researchers practitioners and policy makers interested in test validity or developing tests will appreciate the book's cutting edge review of test validity Focusing on both the underlying concepts as well as practical challenges of test construction and use it also serves as a supplement in graduate or advanced undergraduate courses on test validity psychometrics testing or measurement taught in psychology education sociology social work political science business criminal justice and other fields The book does not assume a background in measurement National Education Testing United States. Subcommittee on Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies, 1998 A hearing was held to consider the issues involved in funding the administration's proposals for certain educational testing After opening remarks by Senators Kennedy Massachusetts Specter Pennsylvania and Harkin Iowa the Secretary of Education Richard W Riley spoke about the proposed tests The Clinton Administration and Secretary Riley believe that a rigorous voluntary national testing system in fourth grade reading and eighth grade mathematics would determine how well students are achieving in basic skills The proposed tests are an extension of the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP and would use the NAEP framework to hold students to high standards Secretary Riley emphasized that these tests are voluntary and not designed to be part of a move toward a national curriculum Senator Specter raised the question of delaying establishing the tests until a better national consensus is reached and Senator Kennedy also commented favorably on the testing proposal Senator Faircloth North Carolina questioned the usefulness of a voluntary test and Senator Gregg New Hampshire questioned the participation of the Department of Education in the creation of the tests Additional remarks were made by Senator Jeffords and Representative Goodling Chairman of the Committee on Education of the House of Representatives who opposes the voluntary national test
