Active Composing and Thinking (Act II) Mark Aulls, William Holt, 1988

The Embodied Child Roxanne Harde, Lydia Kokkola, 2017-09-11

The Embodied Child: Readings in Children's Literature and Culture brings together essays that offer compelling analyses of children's bodies as they read and are read as they interact with literature and other cultural artifacts and as they are constructed in literature and popular culture. The chapters examine the ideology behind the cultural constructions of the child's body and the impact they have on society and how the child's body becomes a carrier of cultural ideology within the cultural imagination. They also consider the portrayal of children's bodies in terms of the seeming dichotomies between healthy vs. unhealthy bodies as well as able-bodied vs. disabled and examines flesh and blood bodies that engage with literary texts and other media. The contributors bring perspectives from anthropology, communication, education, literary criticism, cultural studies, philosophy, physical education, and religious studies. With wide and astute coverage of disparate literary and cultural texts and lively scholarly discussions in the introductions to the collection and to each section, this book makes a long needed contribution to discussions of the body and the child.

Sea Battles on Dry Land Harold Brodkey, 1999-04-15

Sea Battles on Dry Land gathers the best of Harold Brodkey's essays into a single volume. His One of the Rules of Foppishness explains, with deadpan precision, just what men and women are trying to communicate to each other by the way they dress. The previously unpublished Notes on American Fascism eerily anticipates the violence of latter-day militia groups. And Brodkey's profile of Frank O'Hara's Harvard years stands as one of the most eloquent portraits of a legendary American writer.

Through close readings of Woolf's essays including Montaigne: A Room of One's Own, Craftsmanship, Three Guineas, and Thoughts on Peace in an Air Raid, Allen shows how Woolf's politics, expressed and enacted by her writings, are relevant to our current world.

A Feeling of Wrongness Joseph Packer, Ethan Stoneman, 2018-11-01

In A Feeling of Wrongness, Joseph Packer and

Ethan Stoneman confront the rhetorical challenge inherent in the concept of pessimism by analyzing how it is represented in an eclectic range of texts on the fringes of popular culture from adult animated cartoons to speculative fiction Packer and Stoneman explore how narratives such as True Detective Rick and Morty Final Fantasy VII Lovecraftian weird fiction and the pop ideology of transhumanism are better suited to communicate pessimistic affect to their fans than most carefully argued philosophical treatises and polemics They show how these popular nondiscursive texts successfully circumvent the typical defenses against pessimism identified by Peter Wessel Zapffe as distraction isolation anchoring and sublimation They twist genres upend common tropes and disturb conventional narrative structures in a way that catches their audience off guard resulting in belief without cognition a more rhetorically effective form of pessimism than philosophical pessimism While philosophers and polemicists argue for pessimism in accord with the inherently optimistic structures of expressive thought or rhetoric Packer and Stoneman show how popular texts are able to communicate their pessimism in ways that are paradoxically freed from the restrictive tools of optimism A Feeling of Wrongness thus presents uncharted rhetorical possibilities for narrative making visible the rhetorical efficacy of alternate ways and means of persuasion
