Inside the Campaign Finance Battle Anthony Corrado, Thomas E. Mann, Trevor Potter, 2004-05-26 In 2002 Congress enacted the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act BCRA the first major revision of federal campaign finance law in a generation In March 2001 after a fiercely contested and highly divisive seven year partisan legislative battle the Senate passed S 27 known as the McCain Feingold legislation The House responded by passing H R 2356 companion legislation known as Shays Meehan in February 2002 The Senate then approved the House passed version and President George W Bush signed BCRA into law on March 27 2002 stating that the bill had flaws but overall improves the current system of financing for federal campaigns The Reform Act was taken to court within hours of the President s signature Dozens of interest groups and lawmakers who had opposed passage of the Act in Congress lodged complaints that challenged the constitutionality of virtually every aspect of the new law Following review by a special three judge panel the case is expected to reach the U S Supreme Court in 2003 This litigation constitutes the most important campaign finance case since the Supreme Court issued its decision in Buckley v Valeo more than twenty five years ago The testimony submitted by some of the country s most knowledgeable political scientists and most experienced politicians constitutes an invaluable body of knowledge about the complexities of campaign finance and the role of money in our political system Unfortunately only the lawyers political scientists and practitioners actually involved in the litigation have seen most of this writing until now Inside the Campaign Finance Battle makes key testimony in this historic case available to a general readership in the process shedding new light on campaign finance practices central to the congressional debate on the reform act and to the landmark litigation challenging its constitutionality

Dorf, 2006-03-09 The courts and indeed the law itself are under assault from both right and left By analyzing the most pressing controversies of our day No Litmus Test defends the possibility of principled legal decision making against the attacks of both the right and the left From Bush v Gore to the war in Iraq No Litmus Test demonstrates that even when the law provides no clear cut right answers it offers tools for distinguishing good arguments from bad ones Test Policy in Defense Bernard R. Gifford, Linda C. Wing, 2012-12-06 Bernard R Gifford and Linda C Wing Standardized testing has become a ubiquitous feature of American life As a major source of information for reducing uncertainty in the allocation of merit based educational training and employment opportunities testing affects the life chances of individuals Moreover testing influences the way in which our society judges itself and provides for our collective future Test scores may determine a child s admission to kindergarten and promotion to the first grade Most states award the high school diploma only if a student has passed a minimum competency test Major institutions of higher education typically require applicants to supplement their records of academic achievement with scores on college admissions tests In the labor market as a condition of employment or assignment to training programs more and more employers are requiring workers to sit for personnel selection tests Additionally it has become commonplace to use test scores to calibrate our national sociopolitical condition and our capacity to compete with other countries in the global economy In short with increasing frequency and intensity scores on examinations that purport to be objective and precise measures of individual knowledge abilities and potential are playing a critical role in the opportunity marketplace Similarly test scores are exercising growing influence in assessments of our social and economic institutions and in policy decisions about the relative investments that should be made in each In all these instantiations test scores are at the center of high stakes decision making about the future of individuals and of the nation itself Federal Register , 2005-12
