2004: OTM 2004 Workshops R. Meersman, 2004-10-14 This book constitutes the joint refereed proceedings of seven international workshops held as part of OTM 2004 in Agia Napa Cyprus in October 2004 The 73 revised papers presented together with 31 abstracts of posters from the OTM main conferences were carefully reviewed and selected from more than 150 submissions In accordance with the 7 workshops the papers are organized in topical sections on grid computing and its applications to data analysis Java technologies for real time and embedded systems modeling inter organizational systems regulatory ontologies ontologies semantics and e learning PhD symposium and interoperability On the Move to Meaningful Internet Systems 2004: OTM 2004 Workshops Zahir Tari, Angelo Corsaro, 2004-10-14 A special mention for 2004 is in order for the new Doctoral Symposium Workshop where three young postdoc researchers organized an original setup and formula to bring PhD students together and allow them to submit their research proposals for selection. A limited number of the submissions and their approaches were independently evaluated by a panel of senior experts at the conference and presented by the students in front of a wider audience. These students also got free access to all other parts of the OTM program and only paid a heavily discounted fee for the Doctoral Symposium itself. In fact, their attendance was largely sponsored by the other participants. If evaluated as successful, it is the intention of the General Chairs to expand this model in future editions of the OTM conferences and so draw in an audience of young researchers to the OnTheMove forum. All three main conferences and the associated workshops share the distributed aspects of modern computing systems and the resulting applications pulled created by the Internet and the so-called Semantic Web.

For DOA 2004, the primary emphasis stayed on the distributed object infrastructure for ODBASE 2004; it was the knowledge bases and methods required for enabling the use of formal semantics and for CoopIS 2004, the main topic was the interaction of such technologies and methods with management issues such as occurs in networked organizations. These subject areas naturally overlap and many submissions in fact also treat envisaged mutual impacts among them.

Transforming Mathematics Instruction Yeping Li, Edward A. Silver, Shiqi Li, 2014-07-05. This book surveys and examines different approaches and practices that contribute to the changes in mathematics instruction including: 1 innovative approaches that bring direct changes in classroom instructional practices; 2 curriculum reforms that introduce changes in content and requirements in classroom instruction; and 3 approaches in mathematics teacher education that aim to improve teachers' expertise and practices. It also surveys relevant theory and methodology development in studying and assessing mathematics instruction. Classroom instruction is commonly seen as one of the key factors contributing to students' learning of mathematics, but much remains to be understood about teachers' instructional practices that lead to the development and enactment of effective classroom instruction and approaches and practices developed and used to transform classroom instruction in different education systems. Transforming Mathematics Instruction is organized to help readers learn not only from reading individual chapters but also from reading across chapters and sections to explore broader themes including: Identifying what is important in mathematics for teaching and learning emphasized in different approaches; Exploring how students' learning is considered and facilitated through different approaches and practices; Understanding the nature of various approaches that are valued in different systems and cultural contexts; Probing culturally valued approaches in identifying and evaluating effective instructional practices. The book brings new research and insights into multiple approaches and practices for transforming mathematics instruction to the international community of mathematics education with 25 chapters and four section prefaces contributed by 56 scholars from 10 different education systems. This rich collection is indispensable reading for mathematics educators, researchers, teacher educators, curriculum developers, and graduate students interested in learning about different instructional practices, approaches for instructional transformation, and research in different education systems. It will help readers to reflect on approaches and practices that are useful for instructional changes in their own education systems and also inspire them to identify and further explore new areas of research and program development in improving mathematics teaching and learning

Digital Transformations of Traditional Work in the Nordic Countries Rolandsson, Bertil, Alasoini, Tuomo, Berglund, Tomas, Dølvik, Jon Erik, 2020-11-19 Available online <https://pub.norden.org/temanord2020/540> This report aims to go behind narratives of digitalization as a uniform force of disruption job destruction and revolutionary change at work and convey a nuanced picture of digitalization played out at ordinary Nordic workplaces in traditional sectors of work The report is explorative and the findings preliminary but the picture emerging is nevertheless sobering Findings show how digitalization in important sectors of Nordic labour markets are marked by gradual adaptation rather than paradigmatic disruptive change The connection between digital technologies and the organization of work emerges as a two way relationship where institutions and politics still matter Our empirical observations also suggest that the actors in the Nordic model of work are able to continue to influence this relationship in ways that appear to be compatible with the modus operandi of the model

Effect of Operational Variables on Nitrogen Transformations in Duckweed

Stabilization Ponds Julia Rosa Caicedo Bejarano, 2005-03-24. There is an urgent need to develop and improve low cost technologies for wastewater treatment. Simultaneously treating wastewater and producing duckweed in a pond system is therefore an attractive solution contributing to both environmental protection and food production. Duckweed has excellent qualities: a high protein content, a high growth rate and is an easy crop to handle. The small plant turns nitrogen from wastewater into a food source. This thesis reports on the effect of different operational variables like anaerobic pre-treatment, the combination of algae and duckweed ponds and pond depth. Improved nitrogen removal was obtained through the combination of duckweed ponds with algae ponds. Duckweed pond systems could be designed with shallow depth without affecting nitrogen removal efficiency. This research is the result of the cooperative effort between the EIDENAR, Univalle, Cali, Colombia and the UNESCO IHE Institute for Water Education in Delft, the Netherlands. Urban Transformations through Exceptional Architecture Nadia Alaily-Mattar, Alain Thierstein, 2021-05-30. questions How can the complexity of these projects be comprehended What roles do the political contexts play in the commissioning of such projects and what audiences do these projects serve How has the granting of professional recognition for architects changed and what will this change mean to measures of exceptionality in architectural design What roles do the architectural competitions play in the process of commissioning the design of architecturally exceptional projects and do design competitions as an urban planning tool grant high value designs Architecturally exceptional projects are situated in physical urban fabrics How can this situatedness be analysed and what different values does the urban design dimension of these projects add By considering diverse aspects of architecturally exceptional projects the chapters in this book utilise a variety of research methods They bring into dialogue a range of themes regarding the architectural urban design and political aspects of these projects This volume illustrates that multidisciplinary might well be the best strategy to balance the risks of over simplification and the challenges of complexity in analysing these exceptional projects and the city in its ever transformative process The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Urban Design

Transformations in the Brazilian and Korean Processes of Capitalist Development between the Early 1950s and the Mid-2010s: From Global Capital Accumulation to Late Industrialisation

Nicolás Grinberg, 2023-10-16 Challenging mainstream nation centred theories of economic development Nicol s Grinberg examines the specificities of capitalist development in Brazil and South Korea by starting from their modes of participation in the international division of labour and hence in the production of surplus value on a global scale Contrary to those theories he does not consider these as resulting simply from the economic policies of nation states and their associated political institutions nor from local class struggle dynamics or geopolitical developments. Rather drawing on key insights from Marx's critique of political economy, his analysis begins by recognising that the process of capitalist development is global in terms of its economic dynamics and historical trends and national only in its political and institutional forms of realisation. State-mediated patterns of economic development and institutional change in Brazil and Korea as well as the intra and inter-state political processes through which these have come about are then considered mediations in the conformation and reproduction of the nationally differentiated uneven process of capital's valorisation on a global scale.
