

Monster Questions

Introduction-

1. What is the first thing you notice about how this book is written that makes it different from other books you have read?
2. In the opening line Steve states that, "The best time to cry is at night." Why does he think that? Do you agree with Steve's assumption?
3. Steve decides that the best way to deal with his reality is to look at it like the plot of a movie. Why does he decide that?

Monday, July 8th

1. Steve uses movie script directions to describe his surroundings. Do those directions help you to visualize the scene in your mind better than a standard word, or do you find them confusing?
2. A voice over states, "Ain't no one putting the blanket over your head, man. You can't put this out; this is reality. This is the real deal." Can you think of any other times that people get blankets over their heads? What does this show us about Steve's age?
3. What could the blanket possibly symbolize to Steve?
4. How does O'Brien respond to the fact that Steve is describing this as a movie? What does that show us about O'Brien?
5. Patrouilli states in her opening argument, "there are also monsters in our communities." What does she mean by that?
