

The Most Important Person in My Life: My Mom

There is always that person in your life that has an effect on how you want to live your life. They are always there, and they are someone you can look up to. For some people, it's a celebrity. Different people have different people that they look up to. My mom is the person I have always looked up to since I was little, and she has had an effect and will continue to have effect on how I live my life. My mom was always the "all-star mom".

Of course, she still is, but when I look back on when I was little, I now realize things that I didn't before. Through dance, softball, gymnastics, cheerleading, piano lessons, and much more, she was always supportive of my dreams and what I wanted to do. I never realized how much she did for me until I got older, and I still continue to thank her each and everyday for what she did and still continues to do for me. My mom has been through a lot in her lifetime. She is the most strong woman I have ever met.

I look at her and hope that one day, I can be half the woman she is. She is so strong willed, and even when she is having a bad day, or something is going completely right, she still manages to keep a smile on her face as if nothing is wrong. I struggle with that sometimes. When one thing is wrong, it sometimes puts effect on everything else in my life. As I get older, I hope that if I ever go through some of things that she has gone through, that I am as optimistic as she is.

Between working and supporting me, she never gets a break. To be honest, I don't know how she does it. I always call her superwoman. Some days I will look at her and wonder if she is going to make it through the day. Somehow, she always does. She does everything she can for her family. When I have a family of my own one day, I hope that I am a strong woman like her so that I may support my family just as she has done for 18 years of my life. She may ring herself down sometimes and say that she doesn't want me to turn out like her, but turning out like her is exactly what I want to do. As you can see, being just like my mom is exactly what I want for my life. She is strong willed, and helps her family however she can, even if that means her sacrificing something. Her being so optimistic is what makes me smile. When I need someone to lift my spirit, she is always there. I can't wait to see what my future holds. I hope that I can have an effect on someone's life as much as she has had on mine.

Creating Literacy-Rich Schools for Adolescents Gay Ivey, Douglas Fisher, 2006-03-15 We know that literacy is the key to learning in school yet millions of middle and high school students lack the literacy skills they need to succeed What can educators do In Creating Literacy Rich Schools for Adolescents authors Gay Ivey and Douglas Fisher make a compelling case that all teachers across the content areas have a role to play in students development of literacy which they define as reading writing speaking listening and viewing Rather than focusing solely on reading instruction and the cliché that says all teachers are teachers of reading they urge teachers to incorporate rich literacy based learning experiences into their classrooms with the goal of helping students to learn and think across the curriculum With research based findings engaging examples and extensive lists of resources Ivey and Fisher encourage readers to Reexamine the materials experiences and expectations of the English language arts classroom Use strategies to improve literacy in all the content areas and seek alternatives to the traditional textbook Make independent reading an important part of students ongoing literacy development Design and use interventions that really work for struggling students and Consider the schoolwide elements professional development peer coaching leadership and assessment that should be in place to support teachers and students Essential questions provide the focus for each chapter and Quality Indicators for Secondary Literacy help readers gauge where they are on the continuum of providing a meaningful literacy experience for students Creating Literacy Rich Schools for Adolescents will inspire educators to take up this challenge in their own school with new confidence that the work is worthwhile and achievable Note This product listing is for the Adobe Acrobat PDF version of the book

Family of Strangers Susan Beth Pfeffer, 2015-01-06 Sometimes Abby thinks the most important event in her life happened before she was even born Abby s not dying in fact she s perfectly healthy If she were dead maybe her father would grieve for her the way he s still grieving for Johnny who would have been Abby s older brother if he hadn t died when he was only two Probably not though The only time her dad even notices her is when he s pushing her into an Ivy League college And now that Abby s oldest sister Jocelyn has left for med school and Jess the middle sister has run away to pursue a major in drug and alcohol addiction her mom is rarely home Living among strangers Abby writes letters and makes up imaginary dialogues with a boy that she s too shy to approach And she draws up her will over and over trying to decide who should inherit her teddy bears and who should get all the guilt and recrimination that have accumulated in her family Left alone as always Abby figures her choices are to be physically dead emotionally dead or really alive But living means shaking things up taking chances and saying all those things her family would rather keep covered up It might not end well but what does she have to lose
