Accountability in education: meeting our commitments

UNESCO, 2017-10-30 The second edition of the Global Education Monitoring Report GEM Report presents the latest evidence on global progress towards the education targets of the UN Sustainable Development Goals With hundreds of millions of people still not going to school and many not achieving minimum skills at school it is clear education systems are off track to achieve global goals The marginalized currently bear the most consequences but also stand to benefit the most if policy makers pay sufficient attention to their needs Faced with these challenges along with tight budgets and increased emphasis on results oriented value for money countries are searching for solutions Increased accountability often tops the list The 2017 8 GEM Report shows the entire array of approaches to accountability in education It ranges from countries unused to the concept where violations of the right to education go unchallenged to countries where accountability has become an end in itself instead of a means to inclusive equitable and high quality education and lifelong learning for all The report emphasizes that education is a shared responsibility While governments have primary responsibility all actors schools teachers parents students international organizations private sector providers civil society and the media 0 3 have a role in improving education systems The report emphasized the importance of transparency and availability of information but urges caution in how data are used It makes the case for avoiding accountability systems with a disproportionate focus on narrowly defined results and punitive sanctions In an era of multiple accountability tools the report provides clear evidence on those that are working and those that are not Back cover

The African Mother Tongue and Mathematical Ideas Abdul Karim

Bangura,2020-06-02 This book by renowned scholar Dr Abdul Karim Bangura combines linguistics and mathematics to show how and why African centred mathematical ideas can be a driving force in Africa s development efforts Bangura explores the concept that Africa has been the centre of the History of Mathematics for thousands of years as the civilizations that emerged across the continent developed contributions which would enrich both ancient and modern understanding of nature through mathematics However scholars and other professionals working in the field of mathematics education in Africa have identified a plethora of issues in carrying out their tasks This is highlighted by one of the most compelling arguments in the book which is that a major reason for these problems is the fact that the African mother tongues has been greatly neglected in the teaching of mathematics in the continent Bangura asserts that a change has to be made in order for Africa to benefit from the exceptional opportunities mathematics offer showing that even if there is a great body of work connecting linguistics and mathematics few analyses have been performed on the link between African languages and mathematics and the ones that have been made are not theoretically grounded on linguistics Thus the book begins by identifying the objects of study of linguistics and mathematics and delineates which ones they have in common Next since the object of study of linguistics is language the nine design features of language are employed to examine each of the objects as it pertains to African languages After that mathematical ideas of sustainability and those of tipping points are suggested as means to help Africa s development efforts
