Mohammed Basheer,2016-12-14 This unique empirical study focuses on the different quality dimensions of the Madrasa education system in Kerala southwestern India Madrasa education is one of the largest networks of non governmental organisations NGOs in the world Despite originating several centuries ago in a vastly different social and cultural context it continues to address the educational needs of a large section of the Muslim population in India Although the Madrasa system has seen many significant developments over time academia has not paid much attention to its functions strengths and contributions This study fills this lacuna and is grounded in detailed empirical investigation based on ethnographic surveys and interviews with various stakeholders from the field comprising students teachers parents management committees Madrasa boards and educationists It critically examines the existing Madrasa education system in terms of different quality dimensions including curriculum planning and designing curriculum transaction assessment and evaluation institutional management and infra structure While appreciating the contributions of Madrasas in promoting education among the Muslim minority of India the book also identifies their problems and suggests creative modalities A timely contribution to a subject with great international appeal it will be of great interest to policy planners researchers educators students and scholars of formal and informal education minority studies political Islam Middle East and Asian studies sociology history and contemporary studies

Building the Self-Efficacy Beliefs of English Language Learners and Teachers Mark Wyatt,Farahnaz Faez,2024-02-20 Building the Self Efficacy Beliefs of

English Language Learners and Teachers explores juxtaposes and bridges two fields of research that have developed separately the self efficacy beliefs of English language learners and the self efficacy beliefs of English language teachers The aim is to expand understanding in each field and highlight how the two areas can mutually inform each other This should encourage fresh perspectives providing direction for researchers and improving learning teaching and teacher education Empirical research suggests that English language learners and teachers who believe they can fulfil a task are more likely to succeed than those who believe they cannot Based on a deep understanding of how self efficacy beliefs are formed and developed this book illustrates how such beliefs can be supported and researched amongst English language learners and teachers Bringing together the work of educators and researchers working in contexts including Algeria Bulgaria Canada China Iran Israel Japan T rkiye the UK the USA and Vietnam this volume includes meta analyses largely focusing on quantitative data and empirical studies employing qualitative approaches and mixed methods Studies included examine factors impacting the development of language teachers self efficacy beliefs and investigate domain specific dimensions of the self efficacy beliefs of English language learners and teachers This rigorous and original volume will appeal to an international readership of scholars teachers teacher educators and researchers with interests in language education teacher education TESOL linguistics and educational psychology

Reimagining Nigeria's Educational System Joseph A.

Balogun,2023-09-20 This book assesses the challenges within the Nigerian educational system and provides a concrete plan to revitalize the low performing system by strengthening high stakes testing at all levels In Nigeria many citizens believe that the solution to the country s low performance in education is to eliminate high stakes standardized testing High stakes testing refers to applying standardized student achievement tests as a primary mechanism to evaluate students teachers and their school s performance This book argues that the poor quality of education and low ranking of Nigeria s educational system is not related to the negative consequences of high stakes testing but rather is due to many intrinsic factors By conducting a comparative analysis of six high performing education systems worldwide the book offers a comparative summative evaluation of the educational system and offers recommendations This book will be of interest to policymakers and scholars in the fields of African education higher education quality and global studies African studies management and administration leadership and professional development studies Joseph Abiodun Balogun is former Dean and retired Distinguished University Professor at the College of Health Sciences Chicago State University USA Visiting Professor Program Consultant at the Centre of Excellence in Reproductive Health Innovation University of Benin Nigeria and President CEO Joseph Rehabilitation Center Tinley Park Illinois USA

Teacher Agency and Policy Response in English Language Teaching Patrick C. L. Ng,Esther F. Boucher-Yip,2016-08-05 The role of English in the global arena has prompted official language in education policy makers to adopt language education policies to enable its citizens to be proficient in English and to access knowledge Local educational contexts in different countries have implemented English education in their own ways with different pedagogical goals motivations features and pedagogies While much of the research cited in English language planning policy has focused on macro level language policy and planning there is an increasing interest in micro planning in particular teacher agency in policy response Individual teacher agency is a multifaceted amalgam not only of teachers individual histories professional training personal values and instructional beliefs but also of how these interact with local interpretations and appropriations of policy Teacher Agency and Policy Response in English Language Teaching examines the agency of the teacher in negotiating educational reforms and policy changes at the local and national levels Chapters in the book include English language teaching in China teacher agency in response to curricular innovations Incorporating academic skills into EFL curriculum teacher agency in response to global mobility challenge Teacher agency the native nonnative dichotomy and English Classes in English in Japanese high Schools Teacher designed high stakes English language testing washback and impact This book will appeal to researcher across all sectors of education in particular key stakeholders in curriculum and language planning Those interested in the latest development of English language teaching will also find this book a valuable resource

Globalization, Privatization, and the State D. Brent Edwards Jr., Mauro C. Moschetti, Alejandro Caravaca, 2022-08-16 This text explores how the dynamics of globalization and privatization have influenced State policy and impacted education reform in Honduras It makes the argument that understanding education reform in post colonial contexts requires that scholars go beyond a surface level description of such trends as privatization to consider in addition the ways that the logics practices and relationships that characterized colonialism continue to be embedded in the apparatus of modern States The first part of the volume documents historical trends and the evolution of privatisation in Honduras while the second part explicitly engages in an extended discussion of State theory before shifting to present a framework for depicting how these logics are the foundational layer upon which states and global governance have been constructed The framework draws upon scholarship from political economy world systems and post colonialism to depict the ethos of privatization at the core of post colonial States wherein what drives the system is private benefit in the interest of individuals and their networks but not in the interest of those outside the State Applying this unique framework to the case of Honduras and offering empirical analysis of the Honduran education sector the changing role and priorities of the State and the increasing involvement of international organizations NGOs and private actors in the provision of education the text increases understanding of how State theory interacts with broader global dynamics to impact education This text will benefit researchers academics and educators with a focus on international and comparative education policy analysis globalization and international development
