The Status of Student Involvement in University Governance in Kenya M. Mulinge, N. Arasa, 2017-05-05 This book examines the concept of the democratization of governance in universities in Kenya with particular emphasis on students involvement in governance processes and decision making Data were collected from members of the student community utilizing a structured self administered questionnaire and from purposively selected key informants and focus group discussants drawn from Kenyatta University representing the public sector and the United States International University representing the private sector The guiding argument for the study was that shared governance one of the principles of good governance is critical in enabling the universities to deliver their visions and the missions effectively The results revealed that while in principle Kenyan universities have embraced democratic governance in which all stakeholders including students have a role to play in practice they continue to violate the core principles of good governance particularly shared governance Specifically students who are major stakeholders in university education are largely excluded from significant structures of governance thereby limiting their influence and participation Although their representation is mainly provided via student self governance organs unions associations and or councils their effectiveness is undermined considerably by the lack of trust and confidence of the student body and the unending manipulation by top university administrators and external political actors Student active involvement in decision making is mainly confined to lower levels such as the school faculty and departmental programme The authors call for a paradigm shift in the involvement of students in the governance of universities in ways that discourage the current culture of tokenism and political correctness that characterizes public and private universities in Kenya

Geography of Education Colin Brock, 2016-09-22 Geography of Education sets out the scope of this emergent interdisciplinary field It illustrates the essential affinity of geographical and educational studies by emphasising the geographical factors influencing formal education systems and other forms of knowledge transfer Colin Brock begins by arguing the theoretical synergy that exists between the nature of both geography and educational studies as disciplines This is then exemplified by an analysis of the emergence of systems of schooling under the influence of religious political and economic forces The author also considers informal and non formal modes of education and argues that the huge diversity of such provision creates a rich resource for research into geographies of education In the final chapters the author turns his attention to the role of cyberspace which has its own geography in learning and considers education as a form of humanitarian response to issues of environmental sustainability By bringing together a wide range of themes and topics relating to both education and geography Colin Brock argues that the geographical approach should inform the evolution of all types of educational provision around the world The 6th of February ,2014 Towards Impact and Resilience J. Oloka-Onyango, Aldo Stroebe, Frans Swanepoel, 2014-09-18 This book consisting of 17 chapters focuses on clarifying the challenges issues and priorities of Agricultural Education and Training AET in sub Saharan Africa and provides suggestions for practical solutions that can help guide organisations interested in furthering AET for agricultural development on the continent It discusses the African context within which a transformed AET system needs to be located analyses African and international experiences that are relevant to identified AET needs and challenges dissects AET models that may hold important lessons and addresses the main critical issues that will impact upon AET in sub Saharan Africa The concluding chapter synthesises the ideas experiences and evidence from the preceding chapters in order to highlight critical issues for success as well as possible solutions The book is uniquely positioned to add to a call to action on AET to pull together state of the art knowledge from within and outside sub Saharan Africa and to advance out of the box thinking about the principles values and character of AET for development with an emphasis on the models that can help to cultivate leaders and change makers at all levels of the agricultural sector LIS Education in Developing Countries Ismail Abdullahi, C. R. Karisiddappa, A. Y. Asundi, 2014-08-27 The book contains relevant subjects and topics that address the future of LIS education in the developing world of Africa Asia and Latin America Since last two decades the profile of LIS education and their content are on the constant and persistent changes LIS education is facing a fabulous task of managing and preparing future generation of library and information professionals Anthropology and Anthropologists Adam Kuper, 2014-09-19 Anthropology and Anthropologists provides an entertaining and provocative account of British social anthropology from the foundations of the discipline through the glory years of the mid twentieth century and on to the transformation in recent decades The book shocked the anthropological establishment on first publication in 1973 but soon established itself as one of the introductions for students of anthropology Forty years later this now classic work has been radically revised Adam Kuper situates the leading actors in their historical and institutional context probes their rivalries revisits their debates and reviews their key ethnographies Drawing on recent scholarship he shows how the discipline was shaped by the colonial setting and by developments in the social sciences
