Janine T. Remillard, Beth A. Herbel-Eisenmann, Gwendolyn M. Lloyd, 2011-09-20 This book compiles and synthesizes existing research on teachers' use of mathematics curriculum materials and the impact of curriculum materials on teaching and teachers with a particular emphasis on but not restricted to those materials developed in the 1990s in response to the NCTM's Principles and Standards for School Mathematics. Despite the substantial amount of curriculum development activity over the last 15 years and growing scholarly interest in their use, the book represents the first compilation of research on teachers and mathematics curriculum materials and the first volume with this focus in any content area in several decades.

The Nebraska Educational Journal, 1946 Resources in Education, 1986 Learning Through Teaching Mathematics

Roza Leikin, Rina Zazkis, 2010-04-10 The idea of teachers Learning through Teaching (LTT) when presented to a naïve bystander appears as an oxymoron. Are we not supposed to learn before we teach? After all, under the usual circumstances, learning is the task for those who are being taught, not of those who teach. However, this book is about the learning of teachers, not the learning of students. It is an ancient wisdom that the best way to truly learn something is to teach it to others. Nevertheless, once a teacher has taught a particular topic or concept and consequently truly learned it, what is left for this teacher to learn? As evident in this book, the experience of teaching presents teachers with an exciting opportunity for learning throughout their entire career. This means acquiring a better understanding of what is being taught and, moreover, learning a variety of new things. What these new things may be and how they are learned is addressed in the collection of chapters in this volume. LTT is acknowledged by multiple researchers and mathematics educators. In the first chapter, Leikin and Zazkis review literature that recognizes this phenomenon and stress that only a small number of studies attend systematically to LTT processes. The authors in this volume purposefully analyze the teaching of mathematics as a source for teachers' own learning.
