Acid Mine Drainage and its Governance in the Gauteng City-Region Kerry Bobbins, 2015-05-29 Acid mine drainage AMD has generated an enormous amount of media interest and public concern in the Gauteng City Region GCR over the last decade. However, it has been framed as a narrow technical concern with government action being directed towards securing the necessary engineering and processing solutions as quickly as possible to prevent and treat acid mine water to industrial standards. This has arguably limited the scope for full discussion and debate on the impacts of AMD particularly for the environment and this bears implications for how AMD has been managed in the GCR. Government's immediate short and long term interventions to address AMD have been set out as a straightforward solution but over time more complex environmental concerns have emerged. Becoming more evident over the last few years is that one of the main impacts of AMD will be its effect on the overall water security in the Vaal River System VRS on which the GCR relies for its supply of potable water. Limits on water abstraction from the VRS together with the increasing need to maintain the overall water quality in the system through dilution and treatment activities means that AMD is beginning to manifest as a binding constraint on economic development and a burden on society in particular via escalating costs for water consumers. Fiscal constraints are likely to see GCR residents and businesses pick up more and more of the costs associated with the treatment of AMD through the format of increased municipal tariffs. With final decisions on municipal tariffs now pending, the broader yet invisible impacts of AMD loom large. This means that the debate has moved far beyond the issue of predicted decant in each of the Witwatersrand's mining basins. Water security for the GCR and who will carry the costs associated with the long term treatment of AMD have instead taken centre stage. This paper carefully updates the historical record on AMD since the publishing of a GCRO Provocation on the issue in 2010. In doing so, it argues that the way in which AMD has been governed raises a flag around how the political economy of an issue such as AMD should be understood, publicly debated and managed. In particular, it suggests that the governance of an environmental challenge such as AMD is not only about finding a technical solution. The lack of platforms to ensure well informed public deliberation especially over such issues as who will pay and how must be addressed to ensure more equitable and transparent decision making. In light of the broader mine waste legacy inherited by the GCR and the strong likelihood of environmental contamination becoming more commonplace in the future, these concerns are not only limited to AMD. They will only grow in importance over time.

South Africa's Water

Predicament Anja du Plessis, 2023-01-13. The book provides a critical evaluation of South Africa's freshwater resources to illustrate the way in which its freshwater resources, water access, services and infrastructure have continued to decline over the past three decades. The continued decline of water governance, management, water service delivery, dilapidated water infrastructure, dysfunctional local governments and overall excessive water degradation is illustrated and emphasized using real life examples and case studies from various contexts within the country. The main argument of the book is that South Africa's freshwater resources have declined to such an extent that it can be described as a predicament. Questionable water governance decisions and reactive water management practices have led to no improvement and/or increased degradation of freshwater resources An overall lack of service delivery exists across the country in various contexts leading to further water and social decline An inter disciplinary evaluation of South Africa s current water predicament is provided major water crises are prioritized and suitable recommendations are given to transform its predicament into problems which can be addressed Suitable background information is given to emphasize the necessity of good water governance management and service delivery South Africa s freshwater resources are evaluated with specific focus on the decline of informed water governance management service delivery and water quality Factors requiring urgent attention are determined and suitable recommendations and or actions are provided An evaluation and overall synthesis focused on the transformation of the predicament into problems is provided Primary water problems are prioritized according to urgency and suitable recommendations are given to assist in transforming the country s current complex water predicament into simpler water problems Political will collaboration with researchers stakeholders non governmental organizations and cooperation of civil society is required South Africa s already scarce freshwater resources and decaying infrastructure will persist and possibly collapse if no major actions or interventions are implemented Challenges the mainstream understanding of BRICS and US dominance to situate the new global rivalries engulfing capitalism. BRICS is a grouping of the five major emerging economies of Brazil, Russia, India, China, and South Africa. Volume five in the Democratic Marxism series. BRICS and the New American Imperialism challenges the mainstream understanding of BRICS and US dominance to situate the new global rivalries engulfing capitalism. It offers novel analyses of BRICS in the context of increasing US-induced imperial chaos, deepening environmental crisis, tendencies such as climate change and water scarcity, contradictory dynamics inside BRICS countries, and growing subaltern resistance. The authors revisit contemporary thinking on imperialism and anti-imperialism, drawing on the work of Rosa Luxemburg, one of the leading theorists after Marx who attempted to understand the expansionary nature of capitalism from the heartlands to the peripheries. The richness of Luxemburg's pioneering work inspires most of the volume's contributors in their analyses of the dangerous contradictions of the contemporary world as well as forms of democratic agency advancing resistance. While various forms of resistance are highlighted among them, water protests, mass worker strikes, anti-corporate campaigning, and forms of cultural critique, this volume grapples with the challenge of renewing anti-imperialism beyond the NGO-driven World Social Forum and considers the prospects of a new horizontal political vessel to build global convergence. It also explores the prospects of a Fifth International of Peoples and Workers. Language and Institutional Identity in the Post-Apartheid South African Higher Education Leketi Makalela, 2022-03-21. This book examines the intersections between education, identity formation, and language in post-apartheid South Africa, with specific attention to higher education. It does so against the backdrop of the core argument that the sector plays a critical role in shaping, reproducing, and perpetuating sectoral, class, sub-national, and national identities, which in turn, in the peculiar South African setting, are almost invariably analogous with the historical fault lines determined and dictated by language as a marker of ethnic and racial identity. The chapters in the book grapple with the nuances related to these intersections in the understanding that higher education language policies, overt and/or covert, largely structure institutional cultures or what has been described as curriculum in higher education institutions. Together, the chapters examine the roles played by higher education, by language policies, and by the intersections of these policies and ethnolinguistic identities in either constructing and perpetuating or deconstructing ethnolinguistic identities upon which the sector was founded. The introductory chapter lays out the background to the entire book, with an emphasis on the policy and practice perspectives on the intersections. The middle chapters describe the so-called White Universities, Black Universities, and Middle Man Minorities Universities. The final chapter maps out future directions of the discourses on language and identity formation in South Africa s higher education

Rescaling municipal governance amidst political competition in Gauteng: Sedibeng's proposed re-demarcation Thembani Mkhize,2021-08-27

In 2011 the Gauteng Provincial Government proposed that Sedibeng a Category C district municipality located in the province should be restructured Although the original proposal had anticipated that this would happen after the 2016 local elections the issue remains unresolved due largely to fierce party political opposition and vociferous protests against it on the ground This Occasional Paper examines the dynamics particularities peculiarities and challenges of re demarcating the Gauteng City Region While informed by technical reasons the arguments for and against the merger have tended to gravitate more towards party political rationales for why the re demarcation should or should not go ahead Although these debates raise important merits and demerits for the proposal they are difficult to disentangle from the interests of those whose fortunes would be changed by restructuring In this environment municipal demarcation risks being held hostage by party politics with stakeholders such as political parties using any means at their disposal to have things go their way including by scapegoating the Municipal Demarcation Board MDB The case of Sedibeng presents important lessons about attempts to make post transition local government and mechanisms for determining its configuration work for Gauteng It also highlights the need for strengthening and revising demarcation related legislation How can we make sure that the MDB functions effectively with respect to its primary goals
